St. Andrews Church May Be Bought By Christian Center of Princeton

There is a possibility that St. Andrews Church on the corner of Nassau Street and Chambers Street may remain a church sanctuary. Negotiations are currently underway for the Christian Center of Princeton to purchase the century-old building from the Nassau Presbyterian Church, which now owns it.

The Rev. Jesse Owens, pastor of the Christian Center of Princeton at Harrison Street and Clearview Avenue, termed the negotiations "serious" but refused to elaborate. He said it might be several weeks before the outcome is certain and an announcement could be made.

Richard Katen, chairman of the property committee of Nassau Presbyterian Church, also affirmed that negotiations were under way and said "it's up to their congregation to decide."

Built in 1868 and known as Second Presbyterian Church until its merger in 1973 with First Presbyterian Church to become Nassau Presbyterian Church, the large stone sanctuary fronting on Nassau Street and its newer church school building with an entrance on Chambers Street has been the subject of study and speculation for the past year. Nassau Presbyterian Church voted in May, 1977 to consolidate all its activities in its Palmer Square sanctuary, thereby freeing the Chambers Street sanctuary for other purposes.

Use as a kind of mission center of agencies meeting the needs of the elderly, the handicapped and those in difficulty was proposed at one time, as was use as a center for performing arts groups in town. After a year of studying these alternatives, Nassau Church found that the agencies and groups interested in the space either could not meet the operating costs or could not mount the capital required to transform the sanctuary into space suitable for their needs. In April of this year the church voted to sell the Chambers Street building.

At the time, a Princeton real estate agent suggested informally that the land, which consists of 100 feet along Nassau and 187 feet on Chambers, was worth approximately $300,000. The building itself, he thought, had limited utility from an appraisal point of view for other than church use, but could be worth from $100,000 to $150,000.

The Eden Institute for autistic children has been the sole tenant in the church for the past year and has used all the facilities in the attached three-level church school building. When the church notified its tenant of the plans to sell, Eden began a search for other quarters that has not yet been fully resolved. As of September 1, 12 children in its pre-vocational program may move to Dorothea House at 120 John Street, but the location of the vocational program is still in doubt.

The Christian Center is currently located in a brick structure on Harrison Street built within the past 20 years for the Princeton Assembly of God. Although in its reorganization under Pastor Owens two years ago, the church eliminated the name from its title, it is thought to be still an Assembly of God church.

Smaller Garage to Be Studied After 800-Car Unit Loses, 9-1

"We're not against a parking garage, but against this particular concept and we're ready to go forward," declared Planning Board head Margen Penick at the board's Monday night work session, four days after the board had thrown out the Borough's proposed parking garage by a resounding 9-1 vote.

Her words apparently reflected the opinions of most of the board, which decided to meet with the Borough within the week, if possible, as soon as vacationing Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley returns. He is due back in town this Thursday.

At Monday's meeting, Township Mayor Josie Hall said she'd like the Planning Board to set out its own goals in August and ask for public comment in September before going officially to Borough Council, and Hans K. Sander said firmly, "We shouldn't design this garage for them in any manner, shape or form. I'm not about to sit down with Borough Council and design a garage."

But Mrs. Penick urged a meeting with the Borough immediately. She was buttressed by Elizabeth Hutter who, after Thursday night's crushing defeat for the Borough, had proposed a Council-Planning Board meeting. The Planning Board had unanimously approved.

What to talk about with Council?

Mayor Cawley telephoned reporters a statement declaring, "I am extremely disappointed in the Planning Board's reaction," adding, "It is clear to me that the Planning Board action was not justified by the legal authority granted to the board by the site review section of the land use ordinance."

One Borough official, after Thursday night's vote, had uttered in the heat of initial disappointment, the classic "See you in court," but other observers felt that a virtual civil war, with municipality and Planning Board confronting one another in court, would be unthinkable.

"It's so easy to sit down as soon as possible and just talk it out," Mrs. Penick commented.

After the post-midnight vote

Thursday, when tempers were as hot as the unairconditioned Valley Road room, the question, "What does the Borough do now?" was raised.

Jerome Rose, of the board, said heatedly that if the Borough planned to appeal "to the governing body"—that is, to itself—which the law allows a Planning Board applicant to do, "then this whole thing has simply been a charade!"

Reeves Hicks, retained by the Borough for this case, assured Mr. Rose and the board that the Borough would not take that step.

An even bigger question was not raised Thursday night, but has been discussed frequently in the community over the last few days:

Will the Borough go ahead and build the garage, anyway?

In the absence of his client's key people, Mr. Hicks said early this week that the Borough "has not analyzed whether or not to go ahead anyway." A municipality need not, in New Jersey, go before its own boards but the Borough in this case elected to do so.

What will clearly be on any Council-Planning Board agenda, will be a smaller-scale garage, and the possibility of two or more smaller garages instead of one big one. Traffic will almost certainly be discussed also.

These were the major sticking points with the nine members who voted down the structure. They were Wendy Benchley, Ralph Vierno and Mrs. Penick, Borough members; Josie Hall, Hugo Hoogenboom, Elizabeth Hutter, Ralph Phillips, Jerome Rose and Hans K. Sander—Township members. William H. Walker, a Borough member, cast the one "yes" vote.

Mayor Cawley and Martin P. Lombardo, Borough representatives, disqualified themselves, and so did Karl Light, a Township representative. A real estate agent, Mr. Lombardo is helping the Toto family sell the Bill's Men Shop property on Witherspoon. Toto's Market, across the street is not involved in this transaction. Mr. Light's real estate firm is associated with Princeton Community Housing, whose proposed Palmer Square housing is closely linked to the garage.

Thursday night's deliberations began with a carefully detailed explanation by board counsel Allen Porter, of precisely what the board was legally allowed to do. The Borough was before the board for site-plan review only, he reminded them, and the Environmental Design Review Committee had already made a favorable recommendation.

Mr. Porter emphasized that there were clear standards to be applied; otherwise, he pointed out, the Planning Board would have legislative powers.

But Master Planning, which the board also does, is carried on without specific standards, and this puts the board, as Mr. Porter phrased it, "in a tension of roles." On Thursday, he underscored, the board had "the very limited role" of site plan approval.

The debated matter of Princeton's need for a garage was not an issue, he said, nor was the economic distress of a group of merchants, nor the town's need for more public housing for the elderly.

The fact that the garage might have detrimental effects isn't a reason for denying it, the board's counsel continued. The board's job was to make sure the detrimental effects were minimized—a tricky thing, since the ordinance doesn't define "minimized."

"Can approval be denied to a project complying in all respects to the zoning ordinance (as the garage does)? That's the crux," Mr. Porter said.

During the three-hour deliberation, most of the board's questions were directed to Borough engineer George Olexa. Public participation ended Tuesday after two nights of hearings.

The library was still a key, in board deliberations. The library has never been happy with the garage, but it has come around to a softer posture, and the president of its trustees, Conrad Snowden, has written that the library no longer has strong objections.

Think About It.....

Following the Planning Board's garage vote, the Princeton community might ponder this—the future of the town is apparently being determined by an appointed body that isn't accountable to the voters.

A New Jersey town's power to plan its own future is delegated by the state. There isn't anything in state law that requires establishment of a planning board; the law only says a town may set up such a board if it wants to, and Princeton did. Princeton also decided to delegate to its Planning Board the power to approve site plans.

The state's own law requires a planning board to draw up a Master Plan for the community under deadline. Princeton's board re-adopted the existing Master Plan and it isn't certain whether that frees the board from meeting a deadline in preparing a new one.

State law also says all local land-use measures must be referred to the board. If the board disapproves, a governing body can only pass such an ordinance over that veto by a majority of the entire body—not just those voting.

It is an appointed board. Of the 14 members, only four are elected—both mayors and a representative from each governing body, and even they are not elected to the Planning Board itself.

This means that, if the garage vote had gone the other way, citizen protesters would have had no alternative but to hire a lawyer and start down the long, expensive road of appeal.

They would not, in the classic American phrase, be able to "throw the rascals out" on Election Day.

Political considerations, of course, affect appointments. Margen Pennick, the present chair, was appointed by Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley the January after her November defeat in a race for a Borough Council seat.

In the Township, when Elizabeth Hutter was a member of the governing body, Mayor Josie Hall asked her to sit on the Planning Board as the mayor's surrogate—an unusual situation in itself.

Last year, Mrs. Hutter decided not to run again. When her term expired, she was promptly named by Mayor Hall to fill the unexpired term of a citizen board member. Mayor Hall herself then took her rightful seat on the board and Mrs. Hutter simply moved from one chair to another.

Appointed boards have a great virtue: they allow the community to benefit from its experts. Nobody in Princeton has greater breadth and depth of knowledge about the community than Hans K. Sander and William H. Walker—who voted on opposite sides in the garage issue. Any board with such members is lucky indeed.

But few have such depth. At a June board meeting, a new member expressed surprise on learning that Nassau Street is a state-controlled artery. It is dismaying to realize that an issue as vital as the garage was voted on by someone whose ecosystem of knowledge about Princeton is so fragile.

By action, then, this appointed board can control the way the town will grow. It can do the same by NOT acting.

Consultant George Sternlieb began a housing survey for the board in the summer of 1970. That was EIGHT years ago.

Princeton still does not have the housing element of the new Master Plan. The board has been working long, hard hours, and every year around May or June, somebody on the board says, yes, the housing element will be ready for the public "in the fall."

But each new study turns up things not studied before. New members join the board. New questions are raised.

The board has now agreed on Princeton's "fairshare" of low and moderate-income housing. But how to implement? How to raise a roof-tree over those "dwelling units..." as planners like to call them.

Political writer John McLaughlin, writing in "New Jersey Magazine," says "there isn't any political will" to right for and pay for such housing. "Suburban resistance to low-income housing is as strong as ever," he writes. Is continued study of an admittedly complex subject, this appointed board's subtle way of resisting...

Power, of course, isn't necessarily a bad thing. The power to approve a site plan is the power to make sure we all live in a safe, attractive town. And it seems as though the Planning Board, in acting or not acting, is behaving in ways the community approves of.

But it IS an appointed body. It is not directly responsible to the voters, and it is shaping the community. Think about it...

tending toward the non-denominational, but essentially fundamental and charismatic.

The Rev. Kenneth A. Smith, organizing pastor of Christ Church of Princeton, which now meets in the lower lounge of Merwick, has indicated an interest in using the Chambers Street sanctuary for Sunday services for Princeton's newest church. At the time of his ordination on July 9 (see Mailbox, Page 17) he said he had made a proposal to the Nassau Presbyterian Church but had not had a reply.

BANK WINDOW BROKEN

Loss is $1,000. A 4 x 10-foot Thermopane copper-tinted window of the First National Bank's drive-in branch at 370 Nassau Street was reported broken Monday.

Police said a rock was thrown through the window, which was valued at $1,000. Ptl. Joseph Wilhelm investigated.

There was malicious damage to two parked cars last week in the Township.

Martha Heywood, 167 Linden Lane, told police Thursday morning that a large slate stone had been thrown through the rear window of her car while it was parked overnight in front of her home. She told police she had heard nothing during the night.

Antonio Mastroianni, 346 Ewing, reported the window post on the side of his car was bent and a rear window scratched while it was parked during the night. Police said it appeared as if the post were struck by a heavy object.

Former Borough Engineer Spars with Township Over Sewer Problems—Warns of Costly Delay

A Township resident trying to get a sewer to cure what the Princeton Health Department says is a potential health problem says he's found himself sparring with Township Hall generally and, he suspects, with Mayor Josie Hall in particular.

Arthur Brokaw, 61 Heather Lane, used to be Borough municipal engineer. He's therefore familiar with the other side of the street, where citizen requests are concerned, and he finds his present position an interesting one.

He and some other Heather Lane home-owners want a sewer. Len Williams, inspector for the Princeton Health Department, says the street should be sewered. Many private septic systems there either don't work now, or won't be working for very long, he warns.

But sewer lines are notorious for opening areas to development. Of the two hook-ups proposed—a Great Road connection and one going along Cherry Valley—the latter is regarded as making the area highly vulnerable to development.

Township engineers had been asked for "refinements" in cost and engineering data. At last Wednesday's Township Committee meeting, assistant Township engineer Bhagwan Dass presented Mayor Hall and Committee with a map showing suggested sewerage of Cherry Valley.

"Mayor Hall exploded when she saw that map," Mr. Brokaw reports. "I thought she was insulting to the engineering department. She told them, 'Don't let anyone see this!' and implied they'd done something they shouldn't. Personally, I think she was trying to get refinements in price that would show the Cherry Valley route to be more expensive."

On previous occasions, Mayor Hall has said that she doesn't want to see Cherry Valley sewered until the Master Plan has been completed and a decision made about what to do with that part of the Township.

Mr. Brokaw says he doesn't care where a new Heather Lane sewer ties in, he just wants the sewer.

What he wants particularly and quickly, is to get Princeton Township in line on the state's Fiscal Year 1979 priority list, scheduled to be drawn up next week.

Mr. Brokaw, who has his own engineering firm, knows the channels engineers and municipalities must navigate in order to get state or Federal money.

Late in the spring, he explained this priority list to Committee and asked the Township to write the state, requesting a position on the list.

"It is over a month since we were told by the mayor that a decision (on this matter) would be made in July," Mr. Brokaw wrote to Committee last week.

He hand-delivered his letter Wednesday, but Township offices close at 4 in the summer, so he left it on the police desk. Committee and Administrator Joseph R. Nini said it was received too late to read before the meeting began.

Mr. Brokaw was present however. He made his case again. Committee agreed to write the state, asking that a Heather Lane sewer, tied into the present Great Road sewer, be placed on the list.

Such a letter, Mr. Nini explained, doesn't commit the Township; merely places the municipality on the list.

Early this week, Mr. Brokaw reports, he inquired at Township Hall about the letter and was told that Mayor Hall herself is writing it.

"I'm concerned that it may not get to the state in time if she writes it," he says. "She may want to keep a hold on what it says, and I'm concerned that it may not say what it should."

Ace in the hole. However, Mr. Brokaw says he has a trump card. The DEP is sending, to Mr. Brokaw himself, its application form for inclusion on the priorities list. He has told Township Hall he will take it to them for processing.

Mr. Brokaw adds that he has a history of unanswered letters written to Mayor Hall, to Mayor and Committee, and to the Princeton Regional Health Commission.

A February letter to Mayor Hall about a variety of Heather Lane matters—snow-removal, street lights, mailboxes—was answered by Mr. Nini in March, he says; two other letters, specifically on the sewer, drew only telephone notifications that Heather Lane was on the agenda.

It was not on last Wednesday's agenda, Mr. Nini explains, because the Township engineering department hadn't delivered data in time for the question to be given a formal place on the agenda. Instead, Mr. Brokaw spoke during the time allotted for citizens to speak.

No Tax Problem. According to Mr. Brokaw, a Federal or state grant would pay for preparation of the so-called Step One preliminary sewer plans, and the Township's engineering department wouldn't have to pay, or use the time of its staff.

"This sewer wouldn't be a tax burden," he says. "Heather Lane property-owners will pay 100 percent of all the local costs. I'm very concerned about missing a chance to get Federal or state grants for next year."

To Committee. Hearings on two appeals from Planning Board decisions have been scheduled for August by Township Committee. At last Wednesday's meeting, Committee agreed to hear on August 2 the appeal of Solar Constructors from board requirements relating to construction of a drainage berm, tree clearing, water lines and funds to be placed in escrow for road improvement and sidewalks.

John W. Bauman must clarify for Committee his appeal relating to plans of Commodities Corporation. He has an August 2 deadline to prepare material for an August 9 hearing. In a brief letter to Committee, he did not specify the nature of his complaints.

Committee member Hugo Hoogenboom agreed to draw up suggestions for a possible lay person's handbook on how to prepare an appeal for presentation to Committee.

Committee also agreed Wednesday to continue busing of school children over designated hazardous routes, deleting areas served by bike paths. It was decided to bid only the Stuart School section

INN WINS REPRIEVE

From Bulldozer. The Princessville Inn on Princeton Pike has won a two-month reprieve from being put to the torch or bulldozed.

The Lawrence Township Council has given the Lawrence Historical Society two months in which to fix the roof and rid the front porch of termites. The council also voted to donate a six-foot cyclone fence to be erected around the 170-year old building to discourage vandalism.

The township owns the building, and the council had voted last month to allow the dilapidated structure to be burned down by the fire company in a firefighting drill. The Lawrence Historical Society has been raising money and lobbying to save the inn. The group has raised $3,500 and has gotten a pledge from the Lawrenceville Fuel Co. to fix the building's heating system without charge.

However the fate of the building is still not clear. Township planners forecast that Princeton Pike will eventually have to be widened to accommodate increasing traffic. Since the inn is only a few feet from the road, the building will probably have to be either torn down or moved, or the road will have to be rerouted around the inn.

Mrs. Frances Mc Carthy, president of the Lawrence Historical Society and the leader of the movement to save the Princessville Inn, is "encouraged" by the two-month reprieve. "But we would like some assurance that our hard work won't be in vain. We'll have to wait for September to see whether we can save the inn, finally," she said.

Anthony Cermele, a building contractor and member of the historical society, has offered to donate labor and equipment to fix the roof, shore up a back wall and spray for termites. He estimated that "stabilizing" the building and preventing further rotting in the walls would cost about $5,000 if the labor and equipment were not donated. Mrs. McCarthy said that her group is "reluctant to put a whole lot of money into the building" without knowing whether the council will ultimately decide to tear it down.

TICKETED AND CHARGED
As Drunk and Disorderly. A 19-year old Borough resident, irritated when he was issued a summons for parking in a restricted area on Nassau Street near Pine, became belligerent Monday afternoon toward meter officer Steve O'Neill.

After Mr. O'Neill radioed for assistance, Ptl. Raddy Sutton and Det. Ronald Holliday arrested Kenneth Roughgarden of North Harrison Street. Police said he was under the influence and creating a disturbance. He tore up the ticket.

Charged with being drunk and disorderly by Det. Holliday, Mr. Roughgarden is scheduled to appear in court September 20.

Benjamin R. Warren, 35, 71 Wiggins Street, was arrested Sunday evening, after a resident of Jefferson Road called police complaining of a "hot rodder."

Mr. Warren allegedly was speeding up and down Jefferson in an erratic manner and slamming on his brakes. He was given a Breathalyzer test by Sgt. Robert Anderson and charged with drunk driving.

Lee Lichtenstein, 18, of Darrah Lane, Lawrence Township, has been charged by Borough police with buying alcoholic beverages for minors.

He was observed Friday evening by Ptl. Randy Sutton on foot patrol in a car with two other youths parked off Nassau Street near Pine. There was an exchange of money.

Lichtenstein then left the car and went across the street to a liquor store and came out with a case of beer, police said.

The two other youths, 16 and 17, both Township residents, will be charged as juveniles and heard in juvenile court.

SIGHTED MAILBOXES

Flattened Same. Ten mailboxes, three stop signs and a sign and post at the Hun School were run over by a car and crushed to the ground early Monday morning in the area of Edgerstoune, Russell, Hun and Winant roads. A pole and rail fence was also destroyed.

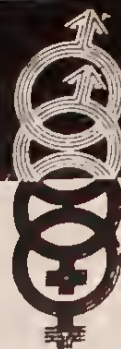

"We have several witnesses that can identify the car and the driver," commented Lt. Anthony Pinelli. The police investigation reveals, he said, that the driver of the car is a 1977 graduate of the Lawrenceville School and an Alabama resident; the car is owned by a Lawrenceville resident.

While there are no arrests at this time, Lt. Pinelli stated, police expect them to follow. Police began receiving calls about the vandalism at 12:34 in the morning.

Earlier in the week, two youths, 17 and 16, were charged with malicious damage to a half-dozen mailboxes on Mount Lucas Road.

Police received a call from a witness at 6:25 last Wednesday evening, reporting seeing a car occupied by two youths damage two mailboxes. The observer supplied police with a description of the car and its license plate number.

The youths were later released to their parents pending further action by a Mercer County Juvenile Court, according to Lt. Pinelli, the Township's juvenile officer. One was a Township resident, the second was from the Borough.

Parking Garage Beaten

But as the roll-call went around the table, each member giving reasons for the vote to come, Mr. Rose charged that the Borough had subjected the library to "big-city, back-room, political arm-twisting" to get it to soften its objections. He said he regarded this change of heart as "sinister."

Earlier in the week, Dennis Woodfield, chairman of the library's building committee, had said the library changed its opposition stance because "we don't want to bite the hand that feeds us," referring to the library's dependence on municipal budgets.

Mr. Rose's remark drew Mr. Lombardo to a spirited defense of Mayor Cawley.

"I never said a word against Mayor Cawley!" Mr. Rose shouted. "I demand you to withdraw that remark!"

The two sparred in angry shouts for some seconds. Mr. Lombardo said he had never seen any "high-power technique" employed by Borough officials.

Mr. Snowden was not there. When Mr. Rose's words were quoted to him later, he said:

"It is not true. The Borough isn't big enough to have a 'back room' for one thing. The Borough was under an enormous amount of pressure to get its plans approved, and I think Mr. Rose misunderstood the mayor's enthusiasm for the project."

Mr. Rose said he was impressed by arguments against the garage by Robert Geddes, the architect, and was not impressed by either traffic consultant.

"If traffic won't increase, as they claim, then what good will the garage do the merchants," he asked.

Mr. Rose's statement drew Mr. Vierno, Mayor Hall, Mrs. Hutter, Mr. Hoogenboom and Mrs. Benchley to say they agreed. Most of them mentioned traffic.

A Poor Ft. Mr. Phillips, who had high praise for Mr. Olexa and his command of fact and figure, observed philosophically.

"You can't come up with any garage that won't have an adverse effect on someone in this community, but this one really doesn't fit in."

Mr. Sander had earlier read a lengthy statement opposing the garage for its poor relation to its environment and referring to it as "a football field-and-a-half."

This left only Mr. Walker—Mr. Sander's former architecture partner—who said he'd been thinking for 25 years about the future of Princeton's Central Business District, and remarked that the reason the garage is big is that it has a lot of cars to contain, a number determined, he said, by the total square footage in the CBD.

About the Square. The next project looming before the Planning Board is the expansion of Palmer Square to the north. It is due before EDRC in September and possibly the board in October. John Moran, Princeton University vice-president who is guiding the project, said he was very hopeful that a compromise solution to the garage problem can be reached.

"Palmer Square can provide its own parking," he explained. "We stand ready to co-operate with any alternative proposals, including putting more parking back into Palmer Square, if that's what the Borough and the Planning Board think is best to do."

"But it must be done very quickly," he warned. "The need has been demonstrated. If there is no solution to the parking problem, the CBD will deteriorate."

Thomas Root, president of Palmer Square, said:

"There is a way to work these things out: everybody in Princeton is too caring for that not to happen."

Hullit Pessimistic. But Ralph Hullit, Jr., head of the Princeton Merchants Association, was less optimistic.

"This isn't just a pretty little convenience shopping area for Borough and Township residents, the way some people seem to think it is," he said. "We serve a wide area, and we have for years."

"The board paid more attention to the criticism of Geddes than they did to both traffic consultants. Well, Geddes originally was interested in designing the garage and they picked Fujiwara instead, so I'd have to take Geddes' criticism with a grain of salt."

"Mrs. Penick said she'd interviewed five merchants and found only one in favor. Well, I submitted a petition with 105 business firms—people like First National Bank and Smith, Stratton and Wise, and they backed the garage."

"I knew the first ten minutes of the first hearing how it was going to go. Mayor Hall told Ellen Hodges (executive director of the Chamber of Commerce) weeks ago that she would fight the garage. Most of that board should have disqualified themselves—their minds were already made up."

Mr. Hullit questioned the concept of several small garages on several sites. "It would limit the 50 percent expansion of the business district that's in the CBD Master Plan," he said.

Vacation schedules of Mayor Cawley and several members of Council, have given everybody a chance to cool. By this time next week, board and Council may have already sat down together and begun, in Mrs. Penick's words to "just talk it out."

LET'S TALK ABOUT

HOW TO WATER A TREE IN SUMMER

by Sam deTuro

Trees, especially weakened ones, need a sufficient supply of water during the summer months. Moisture is essential now in those species that are laying down leaf and flower buds for next year.

In caring for their property, home owners will try to aid their trees by watering during the oncoming critical dry periods. But, it does little good to water a tree near the trunk.

A tree should be watered out at the dripline or outer crown limit and beyond. This is where the feeder roots are, and water is absorbed through these tiny roots. If the soil is caked dry, avoid water runoff from a hose by lightly sprinkling the area first. Gradually, the moisture will soak down. Then, let the hose run slowly all night over the outer root area.

Tree specialists have found that trees respond to injections of water and nutrients into the soil, under pressure. According to tests, such injections break up heavily compacted soils and provide extra water for the root area. Tests also show that needed air is carried deeply into the soil and nutrients are added to the tree in the process.

The fertilizer should be one with a balance between inorganic and organic nutrients for longer-lasting benefit to the trees.

VISITOR ASSAULTED And Robbed of $100. A 33-year old New York City resident was robbed of $100 and forced to commit an indecent sexual act last week on the Princeton University campus.
Police said that the victim, who was living on campus for one week, was walking just off University Place Thursday evening around 9:30 when she was approached from behind by a white male. He put his arm around her neck and held a knife at her back. She said he threatened to kill her if she did not cooperate.
He forced her into the bushes by Campbell Hall, just off University Place, and took $100 from her. Then he forced her to commit a sexual act. The victim was not injured but was taken to Princeton Medical Center for an examination.

WANTED: This is a police composite of a suspect wanted for the robbery and assault of a New York City woman last week on the Princeton University campus.

The man was described as 20 to 25, approximately 6-1, fair complexioned with dark brown hair. Detectives Timothy Huizing and Gerald Patterson are continuing the investigation.

PEDESTRIAN ROBBED Of $180. A Borough resident was robbed of $180 early Sunday morning as he was walking on Witherspoon Street toward Hulfish.

The victim told police he was approached by a black male, who began to engage him in conversation. As they were talking, the man suddenly reached into his back pocket and ripped away his wallet.

The victim ran after the thief, but when he caught up to him, police said, the robber turned with a knife in his hand and threatened to use it. He then escaped.

He was described as 6-2, slim with a small beard and moustache; wearing a short sleeved shirt and white cap. Ptl. William Hunter investigated.

KNIVES ARE STOLEN From The Nickel. An estimated 30 knives, valued at approximately $1,000, were reported stolen Monday morning from The Nickel, 354 Nassau Street.

Nothing else was taken, according to police, who said a window on the side of the building was broken to gain

$500,000 from Rockefeller

John D. Rockefeller 3d, a member of the Princeton Class of 1929 who was killed in an automobile accident on July 10, left $500,000 to the University. The value of his estate has been estimated at $100 million.

The half-million bequest was one of the three largest left specifically to various religious, educational and charitable institutions. Also receiving half a million were Lincoln Center and the Population Council, while Loomis Institute in Windsor, Conn., of which Mr. Rockefeller was also an alumnus, was left $250,000.

entry. The knives were taken from a counter and display case.

While Sgt. Robert Anderson was conducting the initial investigation, he noticed that a six-by-eight foot plate glass window opposite The Nickel at Judy's Flower Shop, 360 Nassau, had been broken by someone who threw a rock through it.

Earlier in the week, in the same shopping area, a side window was broken to enter Nordcraft, 356 Nassau. Stolen, police said, were rings, necklaces and earrings valued at $1150 from a display case and $49.50 in cash.

Detectives Timothy Huizing and Gerald Patterson are continuing the investigation of that theft.

A visitor from Hong Kong told police Friday morning that his 35 mm camera valued at $334 and a $151 lens had been stolen from his room in the Nassau Inn. A Princeton resident called from the Inn Monday morning to report that four hubcaps ($200) had been stolen from his car while it was in a Palmer Square lot.

On Friday, Sgt. Anderson investigated the larceny of $113 from a kitchen in a home on Broadmead. Police said the money was not taken from a purse but "was readily visible." There was no forced entry.

A $200 moped was stolen during the weekend while it was parked in the front yard of a Cleveland Lane home. Police identified the owner as a Hamilton Avenue resident.

CYCLIST, 8, INJURED

When She Hits Car. Eight-year old Susanna Spies, 117 Meadowbrook Drive, was taken to Princeton Medical Center for treatment of head lacerations she received last week when she ran into a stopped car at the intersection of Van Dyke Road and Snowden Lane.

The driver, Pelton Swan, 52, of Somerset, told police he was stopped waiting to turn onto Snowden when the young cyclist attempted to turn right into Van Dyke and collided with his car. There were no charges by Ptl. Peter Savalli.

FOUR ARE FINED

For Speeding. Four Princeton area residents were fined Monday in Borough traffic court by Judge Philip Carchman for speeding.

Wayne Carney, 94 Rosedale Road, paid $33; Carleton J. Ryffel, 83 Model Avenue, Hopewell, $23; and Jeffrey A. Smith, 38 Pardee Circle, and Elizabeth T. Perrin, Wood Acres Farm, Skillman, $20 each.

Ted Dean, 127 Meadowbrook Drive, paid two fines: $35 for leaving the scene of an accident and $25 for careless

Thief Gives Back $258

Because a robber had an apparent change of heart, Princeton University is $258 richer.

An employee of Jadwin Hall last week discovered $258 in bills and $8 in change missing from a filing cabinet when she came to work in the morning. She notified the Proctors' Office.

According to police, a proctor found the $258 rolled up in a paper towel. The thief left a note saying he had found the combination to the lock on the filing cabinet. He kept the change, but left the $258 in bills behind.

ALL STOCK UPHOLSTERY ON SPECIAL SALE THROUGH AUGUST 20.

There's a simple way to make upholstery. Use inexpensive materials, cut corners, and run it off a giant assembly line. And if you start with a decent design, it will probably look O.K. For a while. But it won't hold up. And it probably won't be very comfortable.

But there is another way

It's called semi-custom made. And it doesn't use a mass production assembly line. But it does use various line techniques where they save money. And it also uses individual specialists who each work on a given task. Perfectly. But fast. And very efficiently. And this is how we make our exclusive stock upholstery.

Then, to further cut costs, we don't give you a huge choice of sizes. Or fabrics. Or options. All of which results in great savings.

Now that we've told you what you don't get, let us tell you what you do. Which is why we believe this is the best upholstery buy for the money anywhere

THE FRAME.

Solid oak or maple (not cheaper softwood) is used for strength and to prevent warping. All joints are double doweled. The frame is screwed, glued and corner blocked to prevent cracking.

THE SPRINGS.

We use only 8 gauge, tempered steel sinuous springs. And each spring is attached front and back by special helical clips which actually keep the springs "springier" for a longer time. What's more these same springs are also used on the back (unlike most upholstery at even far higher prices). It takes time, but in time it proves its worth.

THE PADDING.

It's extraordinary. We not only use extra padding on the interior, but we also pad the exterior surfaces. This means that the wood frame is completely protected. The results? More comfort. And more durability. Because upholstery fabric stretched directly over hard wood edges wears out faster.

THE CUSHIONS.

Both seat and back cushions are made of a core of polyurethane foam wrapped in Dacron polyester. When you sit, your weight is on the seat cushions. So these have a higher proportion of foam. The backs, which should be softer for more comfort, have more polyester. And all the cushions are cased in non-woven fabric inner bags to prevent the outer fabric from wrinkling or lumping.

THE SEWING.

Wherever possible (and this means 80% of the time), double needle stitching is used. It can take up to three times as long as single needle stitching, but it gives us very straight, very even seams. And the superior tailoring not only looks better, it wears far longer.

THE STYLES.

Because upholstery is a serious investment, we don't believe in fancy or faddish designs that look fine one year and dated the next. So we offer a limited number of classic modern pieces all with clean, uncluttered lines. You'll find chairs, loveseats, and sofas, plus ottomans, sleepers, and even a modular unit group. And, as we mentioned, options are available but kept at a minimum to cut down on costs.

THE FABRICS.

Not a huge choice. But a terrific one. And more than half of them, including our best-selling Haitian cotton, corduroy and velvet, are available at the lowest prices. And all fabrics are Scotchguarded* for extra protection at no extra cost.

Workbench stock upholstery. It's ours and we believe it's the best buy for your money anywhere.

WE CALL IT OUR STOCK UPHOLSTERY BECAUSE MOST STYLES ARE IN STOCK.

In Township court last week, Judge Carchman fined Myrna Scott, 630 Lake Drive, and Gary Moench, Spring Hill Road, Skillman, $30 each for careless driving. Jean Gray, 17 Madison Street, paid $25 for a stop sign violation.

Improper turns cost Vanessa J. Lucarella, 1864 Stuart Road W., and Vladimir Zworykin, 103 Battle Road, $30 each. Mr. Zworykin was ordered re-examined by the Motor Vehicle Department.

LEARNING TO SWIM: Bernard Hopewell, swim teaching and assistant physical director at the YMCA, has Cerl Richardson, Alex Skarulis, and Steve Leonard practice kicking in the Y pool. During the week of August 7 through 11, the Y will give free swimming lessons to Princeton area boys during "A Salute to the United Way/Leern to Swim Week." Lessons will be given each day from 9:30 to 10:30, 1:15 to 2:15 and 3:45 to 4:30. Registration is in advance at the Y or by calling 924-4825. Only 100 boys can be accommodated.

REGISTER NOW

For Free Swim Lessons. The YMCA is concerned about the number of children in the greater Princeton area who don't know how to survive a fall into deep water. The YMCA is also appreciative of the annual support given to its programs by the United Way.

During the week of August 7-11, the YMCA will say thank you to The United Way by offering 100 children the opportunity to learn to swim in free lessons. Children must be at least six years old and not older than 13 years. Class times will be held every day that week from 9:30 to 10:30, 1:15 to 2:15 and 3:45 to 4:30.

Parents may register now at the YMCA membership information office for one of the three class times. Children will be accepted in order of registration, and no child will be permitted to attend the class unless he or she has been registered in advance.

LAMP IS BLAMED

For Attic Fire. All three Princeton volunteer fire companies responded to a general alarm at 3:42 Monday morning for an attic fire, which caused extensive smoke damage, at the home of Mrs. Eleanor Drorbaugh, 188 Jefferson Road.

A defective transformer in a study lamp in a room occupied by a vacationing son of the owners is believed to have been the origin of the fire. Sgt. Michael Kopliner of the Township police received burns of the right arm and left hand when he touched a hot wrought-iron railing leading to the attic. He was treated at Princeton Medical Center.

Mrs. Drorbaugh told police she was awakened by crackling sounds and then saw the reflection of flames from the third-floor fire on a hallway wall.

CARS SWITCHED

Driver Faces Charges. Cornelius McRae, 19, 14 Mulberry Row, faces a number of police charges stemming from his role in the apparent switching of two 1971 Oldsmobile Toronados.

It is a complicated case, commented Lt. Anthony Pinelli, who added it is still under investigation. McRae, who also uses the name Neil Hightower, has been released in $250 bail.

He has been charged by Ptl. Mario Musso with operating an unregistered vehicle, using fictitious license plates, having no insurance coverage and using the vehicle identification number of another car. Det. Frank Boccanfuso has charged him with possession of a motor vehicle serial number taken from another car.

In addition, in an unrelated case, he has been charged with three counts of obtaining money under false pretenses last November 17 from the Princeton Bank and Trust Company.

McRae is alleged to have owned and abandoned a blue and white Toronado from which he removed the vehicle ID number. The owner of a junk yard, where the car was towed, became suspicious when he discovered the number had been removed and called the State Police.

McRae was stopped July 6 by Lt. Norman Servis and Ptl. Musso at Mount Lucas Road and Ewing Street, driving a white Toronado, which contained the identification number of the car that had been abandoned.

Following the continuing police investigation, he was arrested July 13 at Princeton University where he is employed.

NATURE CLASSES SET

At Washington Crossing Park. The Nature Center at Washington Crossing State Park will offer a number of classes during the month of August.

The classes include Wild Edible Plants, A Sense of Wonder (for parent and young child), Nature Crafts, Insect Collection and Mounting, and naturalist guided trail tours. Classes are limited to the first 15 callers. For further information call the Nature Center, 737-0609.

Borough Gets Money, But How Much?

Depends whose announcement you read. Deputy Borough Administrator Penny Edwards says she's received word that the Borough will receive from the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development the sum of $257,400.

That's the amount requested to re-do Franklin Terrace and Maple Terrace public housing on Franklin Avenue, across from the Medical Center.

But a press release from Congresswoman Millicent Fenwick says the Borough will get $296,500. And an announcement from New Jersey Senator Harrison A. Williams Jr., says the Borough will get $257,750.

The money—however much it turns out to be—will be used for new wiring, plumbing and heating system; new floors and windows, new kitchens, new roofing.

Each project has ten units. The buildings are 35 to 40 years old and have been the subject of critical reports from the Borough building inspector.

APPOINTMENT MADE
In Employee Relations. The appointment of William V. Geraghty Jr., as assistant director for employee relations at Princeton University has been announced by Vice-President for Administrative Affairs A. J. Maruca. Mr. Geraghty has been director of personnel and labor relations at Middlesex County College since 1972 and most recently was acting assistant to the president for personnel and labor relations. In addition to these duties, he has been an adjunct instructor and lecturer in personnel and labor relations at Somerset and Middlesex county colleges and at Rutgers University.

As a member of Princeton's Personnel Services staff, Mr. Geraghty will be responsible for coordinating the university's grievance and arbitration procedures, for contract negotiation and administration for organized employees, and for general personnel matters which affect members of the administrative and support staffs. He received his bachelor's (1971) and master's (1973) degrees from Fairfield University and is completing coursework at Rutgers for a master's degree in industrial relations.

FIRM TO MOVE

To Princeton Pike. Loeb Rhoades, Hornblower & Co. has announced plans to relocate its Mercer County office, presently at 35 West State Street in Trenton, to new quarters in the Princeton Pike Office Park in Lawrenceville. The new office is expected to be ready for occupancy in September.

The announcement was made by Walker W. Stevenson, Jr., of Hodge Road, vice-president and resident manager of the Trenton Office. "The decision to relocate the staff of 18, including 12 account executives, is part of the firm's continuing expansion program," Mr. Stevenson said. "Since we presently serve investors throughout Mercer County and Eastern Pennsylvania, we believe that the new office will be more centrally located to all of our clients in the area."

Mr. Stevenson added, "Our firm has been in Mercer County for nearly a half-century through its predecessor firms Hemphill, Noyes & Co., and Hornblower, Weeks, Noyes & Trask. We have planned that our new office will be electronically

Hill's Name Returns to Business Scene 18 Months after Benson Building Fire

Back in business. This time, with sandwiches-to-go or fresh onion soup to eat on site, as well as old friends like milk-fed veal for scallopi and beef from range aristocrats—"Hill's Fine Foods" is the old Hill's Market, and it's back in business.

The new address is 759 State Road, across from Somerset Tire and next door to Mary Watts' store. In fact, the driveway is so close to Mary Watts that if you're going north, you'd better get ready for the right turn as soon as you see Mary's.

Before it was burned out in the Benson Building fire of January, 1977, Hill's Market on Witherspoon was a full-line grocery, as well as a meat market. Now, Hill's Fine Foods has its butcher shop and a produce section but no groceries.

Instead, there is the "Soupery," a small restaurant open from 11 to 3, Mondays through Saturdays; a take-out service, open 8:30 to 5:30, same days, with hamburger-to-go, sandwiches, cold cuts, cheeses, salads. Customers are asked to order by phone (924-4070) in advance to speed things up.

The Soupery has that onion soup, French grill sandwiches in which a sandwich—say, roast beef and cheese—is dipped in egg batter then grilled in butter; strip steak with onion ring on Texas toast, such desserts as a chocolate brownie topped with chocolate ice cream and chocolate sauce, and fresh salads.

No deliveries, no charge accounts. Customers may order meat ahead of time, but that's only a time-saver for the customer—it isn't a requirement of the market.

The rear parking set-up allows space for 50 cars off the mainstream of State Road (Route 206) traffic.

equipped with the latest of national and international communications circuits."

WORKSHOPS OFFERED
Toward "Second Careers," Banner Business Associates.

228 Nassau Street, will sponsor a workshop for those who have been absent from the job market and plan to return to office employment in the near future. Ilene Peper, Director of Training Programs at Banner, points out that "returning to work can be a frightening experience, especially for individuals who have not kept themselves abreast of the latest office equipment and procedures, and perhaps are lacking confidence in their own abilities."

The Office Skills Workshop has been designed to assist them. The sessions include resume preparation, interviewing techniques as well as an opportunity for hands-on experience using the latest office equipment.

Registration is now being taken for the first workshop to be held August 7, 8 and 9 from 9:30 to 12:30. The second will be August 14-16 and the third will be August 21-23. For further information contact Banner Business Associates, 924-4194.

TOWN TOPICS is delivered without charge to every home in Princeton Borough and Township and to part or all of West Windsor, Lawrence, Hopewell, Montgomery, South Brunswick and Franklin Townships and Griggstown. At all newsstands, including TOWN TOPICS' office, it costs 20 cents.

You can buy one at our office, 4 Mercer Street, Wednesday mornings after 10:30 a.m. and at Princeton newsstands after 11.

RETIREMENT PLANNED

From Western Electric. Jonathan L. Thiesmeyer of Nelson Ridge, Hopewell, will retire Thursday as director of corporate education at Western Electric. Mr. Thiesmeyer came to the Princeton area to help in planning Western Electric's Corporate Education Center in Hopewell on January 1, 1968.

Mr. Thiesmeyer graduated with distinction in psychology from Wesleyan University. His career with Western Electric began in 1937 when he joined the company as a personnel assistant at the Kearny Works. He has held numerous positions in personnel within the Bell System, and his career has always been centered around the educational development of personnel.

He served as chairman of the task group which developed the company-wide graduate engineering education program and participated in the planning and organization of Western Electric's Dellwood seminars for managerial education in New York City.

Mr. Thiesmeyer plans to retire to New London, N.H., "to relax completely and enjoy leisurely living with my

Pennington Couple on TV

Gloria Chase, realtor and owner of The Chase Agency in Pennington, her husband Jim and their two preschool children will be featured on KYW-TV's Evening Magazine this Friday at 7 on Channel 3.

Filmed recently in and around Pennington, and in the couple's home and office, the segment shows how the Chases changed professions, swapped traditional business and marriage roles (she used to work for him, now he works for her) and how they cope with operating her real estate business and raising two small children at the same time. Its title is, "A Different Kind of Marriage."

59TH REUNION SET

By Grove Descendants. The descendants of William Henry Grove and Mary Hulse will hold their 59th annual reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gavin Hendrickson, Orchard Road, Skillman.

Descendants of William Henry Grove have been holding reunions annually since 1917, with the exception of two years during World War II. The first reunion took place on the 50th wedding anniversary of William and Mary Grove in Plainsboro.

It is hoped that many of their descendants will attend the reunion this year. Committee members for 1978 are Robert H. Silvester, president, and Sophie S. Silvester, secretary.

TRIP PLANNED

To Garden State Arts Center. The Recreation Department is sponsoring a bus trip for Senior Citizens to the Garden State Arts Center on Friday. The bus will leave Community Park at 10:30 and Spruce Circle at 10:45.

The program features Smokey Warren, a name synonymous with Country Music, and Barbara Autry, the World's Champion rope spinner. Those going on the trip should bring a picnic lunch. For reservations, call the Recreation Office at 921-9480.

EVALUATION SET

For Learn-to-Swim Session. Evaluations for the second session of the "Learn-to-Swim" lessons are now taking place at the Community Park Pool complex. This session will be held from July 31 through August 25 between 10 and noon.

Evaluations are for placement and will be given this Wednesday through Friday from 9:30 to 11:30. There is a fee of $4 per session for the first child in a family and $2 for each additional child.

Princeton residents or season ticket holders interested in participating in this session should report to the Community Park Pool for evaluation. Checks should be made payable to the Princeton Recreation Department.

For additional information, call Nancy Del Nero, 921-9480.

Book Sale Planned

The Quarterly Review of Literature will hold a book sale Tuesday and Wednesday, August 1 and 2, from 4-7 in the Creative Arts Building, 185 Nassau Street. There will be hundreds of new review copies for half price. The titles will include poetry in limited and large editions, recent popular fiction, literary criticism diaries, letters and miscellanies.

The 30th Anniversary Retrospective QRL issues, old QRL back issues and subscriptions to the new poetry series will also be available. Punch will be served.

FIRST AND SECOND IN PISTOL MATCH: Taking part in the seventh annual Police Pistol Match sponsored by Trenton police last week for the benefit of the Deborah Heart and Lung Center were Ptl. Anthony Gaylord (left) and Ptl. James Vandermark. The latter finished first in the individual tactical revolver course, scoring 549 out of a possible 550 to win that event for the third time in the past four years. Ptl. Gaylord placed second in the individual practical pistol course. Princeton Township finished second in the two-man team division, losing to Trenton by one point. Forty-four shooters participated.

MAILBOX

Planning Board Was Right.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Faced with a difficult balancing act—the often in-parking overtime, meter tangible factors which define feeding, and parking in "quality of life" vs. the felt prohibited zones. My address need of many for more park- is 12 Pine Street in the ing spaces to aid the down-Borough.

No element of the community was not given due consideration. The public's input was carefully weighed. It was particularly gratifying to note the high esteem in which our outstanding Public Library is held.

I was left with a reaffirmation of the importance, the necessity, of involving those who will be affected by the change in the planning of the parking congestion in Princeton. Although Mr. Olexa, Mr. Fujiwara, and all involved in the Borough's presentation had obviously considered many aspects of the problem, there were others which would have been passed over had it not been for outside participation.

For example: no provision had been made for parking spaces for handicapped patrons near the Library, as mandated by State law; safety provisions were not given a very high priority in the plan as presented, but the public made clear that this is a matter of deep concern; the traffic studies on which congestion and flow expectations were based were found to be questionable when examined in greater depth; and the need for scaling to human proportions and perceptions, for attention to aesthetic and harmonious relationships, was emphasized at the Board level.

Personally, I am most grateful for the many hours and the conscientious thought devoted by Planning Board members to this proposal. And for the grace and good sense with which they untangled the situation.

MARGET PACK

R.D. 5

Parking Fines Too High.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Between July 17 and 22, I talked to merchants around the Witherspoon Street, Nassau Street, Palmer Square area publicizing a cause which I am initiating on my own. This cause publicizes the fact that fines for parking violations should be reduced.

Out of approximately 40 stores, I received an affirmative response from close to 32 merchants. If anyone feels as strong as I do about the parking congestion in downtown Princeton, I would welcome people to send me 25 cents to cover printing and mailing of petitions calling for the reduction of fines for parking overtime, meter feeding, and parking in prohibited zones. My address is 12 Pine Street in the down-Borough.

If anyone feels stronger about this matter than just circulating a petition, they should make a check payable to the Princeton Area Residents for a Fair Parking Policy. The proceeds from my contributions would be used for advertising and for financial assistance to lower middle income and financially indigent individuals. Many people purposely resist patronizing local businesses due to the fear of receiving a parking ticket. One reputable business is relocating on U.S. 1 for the sole reason of the change in the parking congestion in Princeton.

Denominations Clarified.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Your article appearing on July 5, 1978 referring to Christ Church's new minister being ordained into the Presbyterian Church of America (PCA) was in error. The PCA is not properly referred to as "the 'southern' denomination as opposed to the (United) Presbyterian Church of (sic) the U.S.A." (UPCUSA).

The Presbyterian Church in the United States (PCUS) is the denomination referred to as the Southern Presbyterian Church in Church circles. It was organized in 1861 and is by far the largest Presbyterian body in the South as the UPCUSA is by far the largest Presbyterian body elsewhere in the United States. When these two denominations began talking about merging seriously, a small devious group in the PCUS formed and later split in 1973 forming the PCA.

The speaker at Mr. Smith's ordination, D. James Kennedy, and his congregation in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. represent the largest church to defect from the PCUS to the PCA in 1978.

Either Mr. Smith or TOWN TOPICS reporter should have clarified the distinction between the cooperative PCUS and UPCUSA and the reactionary PCA.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Marlon Rowley, a Princeton resident since 1923 and widow of Prof. George Rowley of Princeton University, died July 22 after a long illness. She lived at 91 Edgerstoune Road.

Mrs. Rowley, 87, was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., the daughter of John R. McGinley, an industrialist. She was active in Princeton social and charitable affairs for many years, including the Present Day Club, the Princeton Supper Club, the Garden Club and its French Market, and Princeton Hospital.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Marion Kelleher of Princeton; two sons, Donald Mackie of Princeton and Norman S. Mackie of Lyngby, Copenhagen, Denmark; and seven grandchildren. Her late husband, Prof. Rowley, was a long time member of the Art and Archaeology Department at Princeton and specialized in Chinese art.

A graveside service will be held this Wednesday at 5 in Rocky Hill Cemetery, the Rev. Carl Reimers officiating. Contributions to the Princeton Medical Center Building Fund in place of flowers will be welcome.

John K. Sinclair, 58, died suddenly in Boothbay Harbor, Me., on July 19. He had suffered a heart attack earlier this spring.

Born and raised in Princeton, he was the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Donald B. Sinclair. A member of the Princeton University Class of '44, he was active in the Triangle Club. After serving in Burma with the American Field Service, he returned to receive his Master of Fine Arts in architecture degree here in 1948, at which time he won the Paris Prize for that year.

For the past 20 years he was a resident of Farmington, Conn., dividing his time between the practice of architecture with the firm of Associated Architects and the professional theater as a member of the Mark Twain Maskers, the Hartford Stage Company board and the Producing Guild.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy Mansfield Sinclair; two daughters, Mrs. Paul Dillenberger of Minneapolis, Minn., and Miss Dorothy Sinclair of Bennington College; a son, Donald B. Sinclair, II; and four sisters, Mrs. Peter Schwartz of Aledo, Texas, Mrs. H. H. Salmon of Lake Placid, N. Y., Mrs. George McAnerney of Concord, N. H., and Mrs. William Flemer, III of Princeton.

A memorial service was held in Farmington. Contributions may be made to the National M. S. Foundation or to The Producing Guild of Hartford.

Carl W. Brunck Jr., 34, of Princeton Avenue, Rocky Hill, died July 22 in Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Montclair, Mr. Brunck lived in Rocky Hill for the past four years. He worked in the repair and maintenance division of the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute in Skillman. He was a member of the Princeton Chapter of Deborah and also served on the Credit Union of N.J.N.P.I.

Surviving are his wife, Marie Koblis Brunck; his mother, Mrs. Ethel Brunck of Skillman; a brother, William P. Brunck of Little Falls; and four sisters, Mrs. Erich Hoker of Denville, Mrs. John Bianco of Plainfield, Mrs. Anthony Pioli of Marshall's Creek, Pa., and Mrs. Frank Deserio of Edison.

The service will be held Wednesday at 1 at the Mather Funeral Home. Burial will be in Rocky Hill Cemetery. Contributions may be made to the Princeton Chapter, Deborah Hospital.

John F. Baumunk, 45, of Mountain View Road, Skillman, died July 21 of an apparent heart attack while jogging near his home.

Mr. Baumunk was a member of the Montgomery Township Board of Education for eight years and president for two years. He was the manager of the Communication, Command and Control Division of the Naval Air Development Center in Warminster, Pa. He was formerly associated with RCA Astro-Electronics Division in Hightstown.

Born in Wichita, Kansas, he graduated from Kansas State University with a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering. He retired in 1967 from the Air Force with the rank of Captain. He had lived in Skillman for the past 17 years and was one of the founders of the Montgomery United Methodist Church.

He was a member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Earlene Baumunk; two sons, Jon A. and Craig A. Baumunk, and two daughters, Denise E. and Joyce E. Baumunk, all at home; and his mother, Mrs. Ellen D. Baumunk of Wichita.

The service was held in the Princeton United Methodist Church, the Rev. Dr. John Bishop officiating. Contributions may be made to the American Heart Association or to the Jon F. Baumunk Educational Memorial Library Fund, in care of the family.

Milan White, 73, of 240 Harrison Street, died July 17 at Princeton Medical Center. Mr. White was born in Edwards, N.C.

He is survived by his wife, Ida White; three sons, Winfort E. White and Milan White Jr., both of Trenton, and Dennis White of Princeton; nine daughters, Mrs. Marie Singleton, Mrs. Lois Moore, Miss Julia White, Mrs. Sylvia Allen, Mrs. Eleanor Alvin, Miss Violet White, Mrs. Renae Jackson, all of Trenton, Miss Donna White and Miss Sandra White, both of Princeton; a brother, Curfew White of Washington, D.C.; two sisters, Mrs. Tinnie Parker and Mrs. Mittie G. Blackwell, both of Edwards, N.C.; 30 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

The service was held in Holy Trinity Church of God in Christ, Trenton, Bishop Esau Courtney officiating. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Johanna D. Berg, 80, of Hollow Road, Skillman, died July 23 in Princeton Medical Center. Born in New York, Mrs. Berg had lived in Skillman for 35 years.

Surviving are her husband, Arnold O. Berg; a son, Arnold W. Berg of Milford, Conn.; three daughters, Mrs. Doretha Webb of Magnolia, Mrs. Johanna M. Gataroska of Brooklyn, N.Y. and Mrs. Helen M. Johnson of Capetown, Calif.; six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The service was held in Trenton, the Rev. Kenneth Bradsell of Blawenburg Reformed Church officiating. Cremation followed.

Miss Gilda E. Pirone of 49 Humbert Street died July 23 in P. Brunck of Little Falls; and Miss Pirone was born in Italy, daughter of the late Con Newton, officiating. Burial stantino and Rose Pinelli was in Newton Cemetery. Pirone, and she lived in Princeton most of her life.

She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Lydia Perna, Mrs. Mary Squitieri and Mrs. Lucille Fasanella, all of Princeton; two brothers, A. Donald Pirone of Atlanta, Ga., and Alex Pirone of Miami, Fla., and several nieces and nephews.

Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated in St. Paul's Church. Burial was in the parish cemetery under direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Thomas Smith, 92, of 10 New Road, Kendall Park, died July 24 in Princeton Medical Center. Mr. Smith was a security guard at Princeton University for many years.

He was born in Falls, Pa., and lived in the Plainsboro area before moving to Kendall Park a year ago.

Surviving are his wife, Martha Jennings Smith; four daughters, Mrs. Sara Rose of Hollywood, Fla., Mrs. Betty Anderson of Kingston, Mrs. Ruth Skillman of Princeton and Mrs. Joan Cartwright of Tanager, Fla.; five sons, Howard J. Smith of Mercerville, Earl E. Smith of North Brunswick, Kenneth V. and Thomas B. Smith, both of Princeton Junction and Lane M. Smith of Westminster, Md.; a brother, Walter Smith of Scranton, Pa.; 29 grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren.

A graveside service will be held Thursday at 11 in Rocky Hill Cemetery, the Rev. William L. Tucker, pastor emeritus of Nassau Presbyterian Church, officiating. Calling hours will be Wednesday from 7-9 p.m. at the Kimble Funeral Home. Contributions may be made to Kendall Park First Aid and Rescue Squad.

Mrs. Lucinda M. Sharretts, 88, of Cranbury Neck Road, West Windsor, died July 24 in Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Salem Township, Pa., Mrs. Sharretts lived in Millville, Pa., before moving to Cranbury 37 years ago. She was a sales clerk for Bellows' Department Store for many years and retired in 1965. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Dutch Neck.

BINDERS POSE THREAT

To Wildlife. Friends of Animals Inc. of New York City is alarmed about the high incidence of animals becoming entangled in the plastic binder that loops around six-pack cans of beer and soft drinks. The organization seeks to call the attention of Princeton residents to this lesser known "technological predator."

The organization says that even when the binder is properly disposed of in the trash it still poses an enormous threat to wildlife, particularly birds and small mammals that tend to forage around in municipal dumps. Discarded binders can also be frequently found, they point out, in parks, athletic fields, beaches and natural areas, which are also the places where there are wildlife species.

Whether in the park or in the dump, the organization suggests, the plastic binder works as a snare. Rummaging animals step into its loops, poke their heads through them and generally become entangled. The more they fight to free themselves, the more they become entangled and death by suffocation frequently results.

The organization suggests tearing open all the loops of every binder once it has served its purpose. It also advises writing to beer and soft drink distributors asking them to affix warning labels advising consumers to open the loops because of the danger they pose to wildlife or to redesign the binders so they can be opened more easily.

Mrs. Annis D. Mayes of 44 Shady Brook Lane is a member of Friends of Animals.

CHOIR CAMP PLANNED

At All Saints' Church. The All Saints' Day Camp for children, a combination of choir camp and sessions in the arts and humanities, will be held from August 7-18 at the church on All Saints' Road. Evensong and a picnic will conclude the program on August 20.

Because of the success of last year's choir camp, this year's has expanded in length and in activities. The staff will include Harriet McCleary, music director; Larry Sipe, arts and humanities director; Celia Manning, assistant to Mr. Sipe; Kathy Hilst, rehearsal accompanist, and Melissa Murray, education director.

The camp is for children in kindergarten through second grade and third through seventh grades. It begins at 9:30 each weekday and ends at 1:30. Children will bring a sack lunch and a beverage. Cost per child for two weeks is $35. Scholarships are available upon request to the rector, the Rev. A. Orley Swartzentruber, or Miss McCleary.

The deadline for registration and payment of fee is August 1.

BULLETIN NOTES

Sarah E. Nelson, a lay preacher from the Cadwalader-Asbury Methodist Church in Trenton, will lead the service Sunday at 10 in the chancel of the Princeton University Chapel.

The Rev. Frank Jensen will be the guest preacher Sunday at 9:30 at the Prince of Peace Lutheran Church, Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction. A resident of Rossmore, Mr. Jensen is a consultant for the Lutheran Church in America and former pastor of churches in Schenectady, Buffalo, Ontario and Erie, Pa. He is a graduate of Muhlenberg College, the Chicago Seminary and the Philadelphia Seminary.

There will be a nursery for small children during the service and a coffee fellowship afterwards.

The Rev. Jack Jackson, new minister at the United Methodist Church, Nassau Street and Vandeventer Avenue, will preach Sunday at 10 on his return from vacation.

On Sunday, August 6, the United Methodist Church will participate in the summer ecumenical program at the YM-YWCA for migrant workers from nearby farms. Alice Keizer and Alice Lepert of the Work Area on Missions are enlisting helpers for turkey-roasting, meal serving, child care in the nursery, transportation and a sewing class. The day is seen as a chance to observe as well as participate in a much needed missions program.

Realtors 247 Nassau St. 609-924-3822

UNDER A TOWERING PINE

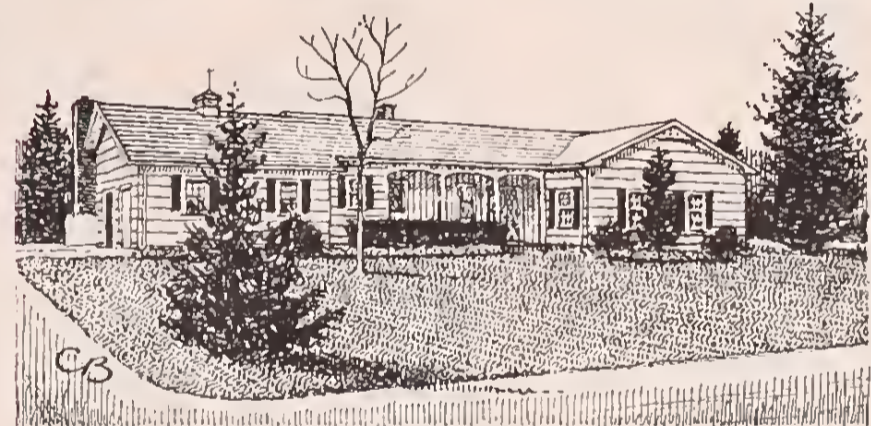

stands this rambling stone and frame colonial. Built by Bowers some 35 years ago, and added to more recently, it features both solidity and charm.

Stepdown living room with fireplace, formal dining room, study with second fireplace and large playroom. Upstairs, four good sized bedrooms, three baths. Central air conditioning.

But the grounds—the one and three quarter acre lot is cut out of the old Pyne estate—are every bit as lovely as the house. Mature trees, established shrubbery - and a handsome flagstone patio.

A new listing and an interesting one.

Offered at $190,000

ON THE ROCKY HILL

Immaculate three bedroom, two bath ranch on a nicely landscaped acre. Living room, separate dining room, family room with fireplace. And best of all, in an attractive friendly young neighborhood served by the excellent Montgomery Township schools.

Now only $105,000

A HOUSE FOR ALL SEASONS

is this large rambling story and a half in a most prestigious section.

Four king sized bedrooms, nearly new celery carpeting and custom drapery throughout the spacious living areas, and two flagstone patios from which to view the woodsy acre and a half.

If you are interested in quality construction, you can't afford to miss this one. It's irreplaceable at the newly reduced price of $119,500

What Does Fox and Lazo Give You? The Best Real Estate Training in the Princeton Area!

JOHN B. LASALLE

"I've been with the Princeton Junction Office almost 8 months now, and I think I've done well because I started out the right way — with a top-notch training program. When I first went through Fox and Lazo's intensive program, I assumed that all the firms in the area offered the same thing. Since then, I've discovered the difference a really top training program can make in this profession. The more you know — about working with people, about financing, about the proper forms and channels — the easier it is to do your best, and to get the best results.

"I'm a very thorough person. I like to put in that extra effort, so I can do the job right. The training and guidance I've had make all the difference. I can do the job right, because I started out right — with the best real estate training in the Princeton area."

JOHN B. LASALLE
Sales Associate

If you're a real estate professional (or would like to be), come discover what Fox and Lazo Real Estate can offer you — in professional training, continuing education, sales support, financial rewards and career satisfaction. For a confidential interview, call Mr. Jack Burka, 609-799-2022.

BEST VALUE IN PRINCETON FARMS

When a terrific 1900 sq. ft. ranch with 3 bedrooms, 2 full baths, huge country kitchen, 36' long living room-dining room with fireplace, full basement, underground sprinkler system, plenty of spacious closets in a very desirable Hopewell location comes on the market and the price is only $78,900, don't hesitate a minute to call us at 921-2700 to see it—you may miss this great opportunity.

NOT TOO FAR FROM PRINCETON

We have listed a luxurious 3 bedroom, 2½ bath stone and marble custom built ranch with large eat-in kitchen, raised hearth stone fireplace and built-in bookcases in 28' family room, full basement with 47' recreation room with wet bar, storage rooms and even provisions for a sauna. The piece-de-resistance is the 20' x 24' inground pool with cabana. Wouldn't you like to see this gem?
$94,900

THE LIVING IS EASY

At the Avon Village condominiums. Choose from a one or two bedroom unit with plenty of space inside and your own private fenced patio out. For a small monthly maintenance fee, all the essential services are taken care of for you such as exterior maintenance, snow removal, garbage pickup, sidewalks, landscaping, pools, tennis courts, community clubhouse and more. For the people on the go or those who want to enjoy their leisure hours, you couldn't find a better situation. N.Y. commuter buses stop at the corner and shopping is just a short walk away.

A SECLUDED GARDEN

Surrounds the redwood deck and torch lights add a magic touch in the evening—and there's plenty of time to enjoy all this because the accompanying 3 bedroom, 2 bath with full basement ranch style townhouse is practically maintenance free. For a small monthly fee, the lawns, snow removal, garbage removal, pools and tennis courts are taken care of for you. Even the refrigerator is frost free and the stove is self-cleaning. Shopping is a short walk away as is the N.Y. commuter bus. Let us introduce you to this care-free way of life.
$46,900

YOU CAN HARDLY SEE THE HOUSE FOR THE TREES

But once you glimpse this exciting Geodesic Dome Home, you'll fall in love with every dramatic feature - the vaulted ceilings, room brightening skylights, flowing spaces and intimate alcoves, fantastic center core kitchen with computer range, three redwood decks overlooking lovely woods, fireplace, maintenance free red cedar shakes, full basement and garage. Let us show you through this unique home.

CALL FIRESTONE TODAY FOR AN APPOINTMENT!

NORTH BY NORTHWEST: ON SOURLAND MOUNTAIN WITH A, SPECTACULAR VIEW. Dramatic on the inside, as it is on the outside, from its slate entry foyer and hallways to its fine wood cathedral ceilings, where each room has been positioned to take advantage of its own special view of the valley. There's an expansive living room with unique hearth, a dining room with access to the deck overlooking the sensational in-ground pool, a kitchen to behold and a family room wing which can be used as a completely separate unit for guests or an in-law arrangement. Downstairs, protected from the extremes of weather by the hillside are four marvelous bedrooms each with its own view. Come see the pride of Sourland mountain...you'll love it. $275,000

What Does Fox and Lazo Give You?

The Best Real Estate Training in the Princeton Area!

JOHN B. LASALLE

"I've been with the Princeton Junction Office almost 8 months now, and I think I've done well because I started out the right way — with a top-notch training program. When I first went through Fox and Lazo's intensive program, I assumed that all the firms in the area offered the same thing. Since then, I've discovered the difference a really top training program can make in this profession. The more you know — about working with people, about financing, about the proper forms and channels — the easier it is to do your best, and to get the best results.

"I'm a very thorough person. I like to put in that extra effort, so I can do the job right. The training and guidance I've had make all the difference. I can do the job right, because I started out right — with the best real estate training in the Princeton area."

JOHN B. LASALLE
Sales Associate

If you're a real estate professional (or would like to be), come discover what Fox and Lazo Real Estate can offer you — in professional training, continuing education, sales support, financial rewards and career satisfaction. For a confidential interview, call Mr. Jack Burke, 609-799-2022.

Grandest Townhomes in the Delaware Valley

$79,000 to $135,000

Somewhere out there, we feel there are a limited number of people who still believe in quality, who demand it, and who won't compromise it in their next home.

You are the ones for whom we have built a limited number of Townhomes in Sutphin Pines.

We also feel that you are sophisticated enough to know that true quality and craftsmanship must be seen and examined for authenticity.

So rather than waste your time with the usual grandiose phrases, we make this simple invitation:

Visit Sutphin Pines and inspect our custom built models. See for yourself what meticulous details are blended into the architectural style of Colonial Williamsburg. See how these spacious homes are surrounded by woods and fields.

If you want only the best, we think you'll enjoy your visit.

TREAT YOURSELF TO THE BEST!

A spacious manor house of stone and frame on an estate setting nine wooded acres sloping back to Stony Brook - unique among Princeton homes.

Gracious entry hall, formal step-down living room with fireplace, interesting library with cathedral ceiling and exposed beams, hide-away playroom, music room or maid's room with adjoining bath — all are charming.

Master suite, three other second floor bedrooms, a total of five baths (two with oversized tubs) and high on the third floor, with its own outside staircase and cedar deck, a light filled studio.

THE HEART OF THE HOUSE

...is the marvelous "country kitchen" with its informal sitting space around the fireplace and pleasant eating area. The working kitchen with cooking island was custom designed by its gourmet owner! Bright sunny, opening out to terrace, pool and woods — this is a room to live in!

If you are looking for a spacious country home, with quality workmanship, materials and design in every feature, this is one to see and admire!

And enjoy the privacy of the country — yet only 1 1/2 miles from Palmer Square! $295,000

THE LAST HOUSE ON LIBRARY PLACE! We are proud to offer this true Princeton classic which no longer can be duplicated. Built by Matthews Construction at the end of Library Place, this marvelous 1928 colonial has the most beautiful 32-foot living room with fireplace and a liveable sun porch, which exits to a stone-walled terrace. To the right of the gracious entrance hall is a generous dining room, a grand old-fashioned pantry, and kitchen, cozy library with fireplace and powder room. Four corner double bedrooms with two spacious connecting baths complete the second floor. Playroom potential with full bath in the basement. Drive by and see the glorious old trees, and then please be sure to make an appointment with a Henderson sales agent. $210,000.

WE COULDN'T PRICE THE WARMTH AND AFFECTION THAT COMES WITH THIS HOUSE! Talk to any member of the family that grew up here, and a feeling exudes that must carry over to the next loving family that will call it home! It's pretty to look at, comfortable to live in, easy to maintain, and a delight to show off to friends. It's spacious if you want it to be, but also has lots of nooks and crannies for reading, privacy and listening! Scholars have come here to chat and compare . . . and now it's ready for you! Two fireplaces, great basement, easy kitchen, dreamy patio, and many other amenities. Priced well for the ideal location. $230,000

ONE FLOOR LIVING AT ITS BEST. This luxurious five bedroom brick home has everything you can imagine - a step-down living room with high ceilings and a splendid fireplace, an enormous dining room, separate den, playroom, huge eat-in kitchen. Four baths. Two screened porches. 22' x 45' gunite swimming pool, bath houses, double barbecue. Even a badminton court! Brick terraces. Black-topped circular driveway. And the lot is simply too beautiful - nearly four acres of enormous trees backing up to Stony Brook. This is truly an exceptional offering and we are proud to present it. Please call us for all the details. $199,000

A BUILDER OUTDID HIMSELF WITH THIS EXCEPTIONAL PRINCETON HOUSE WHEN HE BUILT IT FOR HIS OWN FAMILY! The floor plan is spacious yet manageable! Light, airy, very contemporary with beautiful materials and convenience in every room. More than 3,000 square feet inside this flawless brick home, divided into bedrooms, study, living and fun areas! A kitchen that has to be seen with everything perfectly organized around a center island. A laundry room that in most houses would be a nursery, located near the bedrooms where it should be! Every amenity, of course, and lest we forget, a playroom downstairs with an antique bar, running water, bath and the potential for a lot of good parties! Please call for all the particulars. $194,900

Because Journalism Nourishes His Habit as a Playwright, Bill McCleery Writes Comedy about Newspaper Publishing

"I have a weakness for strong women, the newspaper business and the American language," smiles playwright William McCleery.

And all three are in his new play, "Match Play," which opens at 7:30 this Thursday in Summer Intime's Murray Theatre production.

As he sat in the woodland garden of his Edgerstoune Road home on a warm summer morning, he talked about his new play and his past productions and chuckled over the lines he likes best in "Match Play," savoring their humor and enjoying the sound of his own American language.

The strong woman in "Match Play" is a newspaper publisher. The play is about her and about the newspaper business.

"I've practiced journalism to feed my habit as a playwright," Mr. McCleery says, reaching back to the job he got on the Omaha World-Herald at the age of 19, just out of the University of Nebraska.

First Produced at 17. But playwrighting, even then, had come first. He'd written plays in high school, in Hastings, Nebraska, and when he went to the University he found a kind of "Triangle" club called the Kosmet Klub. He promptly joined it. His first show, produced when he was 17, was called "Don't Be Silly," and all during college, except for freshman year, he turned out book and lyrics for Kosmet.

Bill McCleery is a genial and engaging talker with no embarrassment about saying "and then I wrote..."

As he talks about his life, tracking his career from the job he was offered in New York with Hearst in 1931, when he was only 20, right up to his first day on the job with Princeton University in 1963, he often will say, "and then I was offered a job..." There is never a sense of poor young Bill McCleery scratching to find a spot on the bottom rung of the ladder.

Tug of War. In fact, the Omaha Bee-News, the Hearst paper in town, wanted him when he went to the World-Herald, and the editor said, "We'll get you working for Hearst yet."

It was quite something to have a job in the depressed years of the early '30s. Mr. McCleery, who founded "The Advertising Almanac," for

BETWEEN THE ACTS: At home in his private "Green Room," the garden of his Princeton home, playwright Bill McCleery talks about himself and his craft. Trim, simlible, witty, with a kind of gentle jauntiness, McCleery refutes the saying that "Those who can, do; those who can't, teach. He does and teaches with equal success.

Hearst, displaying for all papers in the chain the best promotion ideas and the best ads, remembers the way it was.

"There were 25 on the staff when I went out for lunch one day. When I got back, there were only three."

He quit on his own, after less than two years, to go back home and write. But no. Friends urged him into the Associated Press in Washington, and he covered Franklin Roosevelt's first inaugural before coming north to New York to be executive editor of the A.P. feature service. He was 25.

The pull of the theatre is tough to resist, and sure enough, before long he was taking a leave of absence to write a play. Invited to Black Mountain College as their "writer-in-residence," he wrote a musical and saw it produced there.

Back to journalism in the fall of '38, to work for Life Magazine, then to PM, where he was "a founding editor," then picture and Sunday editor, then Sunday Magazine editor.

Four Months on Broadway. Enter "Hope for the Best." "It was the first play I had on Broadway. Opened in 1945 and ran for four months. Franchot Tone played a newspaper columnist, and Jane Wyatt was the girl. It was about the newspaper syndicate business."

He chuckles when he remembers the play's reception.

"I learned then that writing a play about a newspaperman is about as forgivable as killing a cop. Critics think they're experts and they deeply resent plays about newspaper people."

"Parlor Story," two years later, starred Walter Abel.

"It was about a newspaperman who becomes a college professor—ha!" and Bill McCleery waits for the line to sink in.

Because he himself was a professor, teaching a playwriting course at Princeton University. In fact, he read "Match Play" out loud to his students as he progressed through the writing.

STOP THE PRESSES? On the contrary: try everything you can to keep 'em rolling. Financial difficulties beset Publisher Alice White and she hopes she can ease them by marriage to Randy Robins (left). But her managing editor, played by Lauren Woods, would like to blue-pencil the idea. All three are in "Match Play," opening this Thursday at Summer Intime.

"MATCH PLAY"
Premiere, at Intime. "Match Play," a new comedy by William McCleery, will receive its first performance this Thursday on the Murray Theatre stage in a Summer Intime production. Curtain-time is 7:30. The play will run this weekend and next.
In "Match Play," playwright McCleery writes about a newspaper publisher named Lucia, portrayed by Alice White, and her relationship with two men. One, her fiancé, has the money that may help Lucia's newspaper out of its financial difficulties. The fiancé is played by Randy Robbins. But the second man presents a problem. He's the managing editor (Lauren Woods plays the part) and it's just possible that the publisher may be in love with him. The three-member cast is being directed by Dan Berkowitz, and Mr. McCleery has been sitting in on rehearsals. For additional information about the playwright himself, see the story on page 1B.

the customers cool from 11 p.m. after the Friday, Saturday and Sunday night house lights have gone down in Murray Theatre.

Each week's show is completely new. Much of the material is original, developing each week from improvisations by the company. Dale Coye, the director, and performer Susie Lewis are two of the chief brainstormers.

There's music, too, and lots of songs. The cone-lickin' starts at 11 on Friday and Saturday nights and 10:30 on Sundays. The menu features those half-dozen ice cream

WE'VE GOT A HOME

Street Theatre. A recreation room in Princeton Community Village will be the new home for Princeton Street Theatre, with moving day scheduled for early September.

Street Theatre has been nesting in Dorothea House, 120 John, but the space was needed, and it had to find a new headquarters.

"Bell, Book and Candle," Street Theatre's play about a genial young witch, will play Palmer Square at 8 p.m. this Friday, and Princeton High School at the same time Saturday. Take lawn chairs.

TWO ON YOUTH, AGE

In Film Series, "The Go-Between" and "Amarcord" both deal with youth and the coming of age and nobody is saying whether they were booked together on purpose, but they'll be on screen this Wednesday through Sunday in Kresge Auditorium in McCarter's Summer Cinema series.

"The Go-Between" is a collaboration between director Joseph Losey and playwright Harold Pinter. A 13-year old boy, on vacation in the home of a rich schoolfriend, finds himself carrying love notes between his friend's engaged sister and an earthy farmer. The cast includes Michael Redgrave, Margaret Leighton, Edward Fox, Julie Christie and Dominic Guard.

"Amarcord" is the Fellini film in which the director looks back to his youth in a small town in Mussolini's Italy. There is romance, slapstick, bawdiness and some moments of genuine emotion, as "Amarcord" evokes not only Fellini's youth, but life itself.

Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday evenings "The Go-Between" will be shown at 7:30, "Amarcord" at 9:30. Friday and Saturday, the times will be 8 and 10 p.m.

EXCHANGE

Agatha Christie for Kurt Weill. The famous, long-running Agatha Christie mystery play, "Mousetrap," has been substituted by Summer Intime for its previously scheduled production of Kurt Weill's musical, "Happy End."

"Mousetrap" will be the final play of the summer, and it will open August 10. Intime ran into legal snarls in its attempt to acquire rights to the Kurt Weill play, and in addition, discovered that in his will, Weill stipulated that a full orchestra must be employed in any production of the musical.

MOVIES, MOVIES

Hitchcock, Pottier... and Mel Brooks. Four movies in Summer Intime's Cinema Intime will occupy McCormick Hall (air-conditioned) starting this Wednesday. All are at 8 p.m.

"Rebecca," the Hitchcock suspense romance, will be shown this Wednesday.

"The Twelve Chairs," the Mel Brooks film, is scheduled for Monday, July 31.

"Enter, Laughing," is the film for Tuesday, August 1.

"They Call Me Mr. Tibbs," with Sidney Poitier, will be screened Wednesday, August 2.

MONTY PYTHON DUE

At Public Library. The Princeton Public Library will present the comedy film, "Monty Python and the Holy Grail," Tuesday, August 8 at 2:30 and 8.

The film is in color and lasts 90 minutes. Everyone is invited to the free showing.

McCleery on Playwriting

"A play is the most natural art form in writing: there is no need to punctuate or spell."
"You can't teach anyone to be a playwright. You can help potential playwrights to discover themselves."

"I learned playwriting while teaching playwriting and I had had two plays on Broadway before I began to learn."
"As a playwright, your weaknesses—the things that really move you—are your strengths."

"Bad plots are made by authors; good plots, by characters."
"You need a character with hunger and a plan. Surround that character with others who have their own hungers and plans."

"Bring me any good fight scene and I can tell you where it should go in the play."
"You learn about yourself when you write conflict scenes."
"I have some capacity for catching and holding the attention of an audience—this you can't learn."

Bill McCleery

"I owe a lot to co-education at Princeton University because the women in my class were enormously helpful. Some of my bright young women pointed out that in 'Match Play,' the man got all the funny lines. And I had meant the play to be pro-female!"
"I went back and worked very hard to arm her with as much wit and humor as I'd given him."

For Helen Hayes' Daughter. "Parlor Story" didn't have the stamina to last long, but Mr. McCleery liked the characters so much he wrote another play about the same family. This one was "Good Housekeeping," and it became, in a sense, Helen Hayes' play.
She wanted to take it to Broadway as a way of introducing her daughter, Mary McArthur. It toured summer theatres first, but Mary died of bulbar polio before it could reach New York.

"Its collapse was a serious blow," Mr. McCleery recalls. Two other plays under option and an assignment from Sam Goldwyn for a screen play also collapsed.

But by this time it was 1950, and with his new wife, Ann, he moved to Peterboro, New Hampshire—and the McDowell Colony, which he served for two decades as trustee.

Through Helen Hayes, he then got into television writing in the giddy days of live TV.
"I really had it made!" he laughs. "I'd do an original play and try to sell it to Broadway. If I failed, I'd sell it to Samuel French for publication, and then adapt it for TV!"

It all changed when kinescope was invented and the TV industry moved to Hollywood, toward which McCleery had "no inclination."

But the Curtis Publishing Company was still riding high in 1958, and he said to Bruce and Beatrice Gould, editors of the Ladies Home Journal, "Remember that job you offered me ten years ago?" and when they said they did indeed, Bill McCleery went to work there and moved to Princeton.

"Immediately, Curtis began to sink! In five years, all the top editors had been fired." He asked a Princeton friend, "What would somebody like me do at a university?" and ended up as editor of "University" and teacher of a playwriting course.

Fenwick the Model. "Enormously educational for me, editing University Magazine," he says. "The interviews were valuable research for playwriting. Interviewing Congresswoman Millicent Fenwick, for example—feminine, yet really strong and amusing. I drew on her for the character of the publisher in 'Match Play.'"

Retired in 1977, he is now working one-quarter time, developing a working relationship between the Princeton Alumni Weekly and University Magazine.

"I can't imagine anyone luckier—to retire, and then go to work with a bunch of young people to produce a play about things they take VERY seriously."

Since 1971, he has been senior theatre critic for TOWN TOPICS, a job he says he likes very much.

"I used to fall asleep at a dull play. Now I stay awake and learn a great deal!"

POSTCARDS ARE THEME Of Place Compositon. William Cheadle, associate professor of piano at Westminster Choir College, is a collector of old postcards as well as a pianist. His wife, Louise, is head of the Conservatory Division at the Choir College, and the two give concerts playing piano works for four hands together.

At his wife's suggestion, Mr. Cheadle has set some of his postcards to music. The premiere performance of "Picture Postcards," Cheadle Opus No. 1 for piano, four hands, will be given Thursday at 8:30 in the Playhouse at the Choir College. The public is invited.

The postcards which are described in eight musical vignettes are "Cathedral," "Snow Flurries," "Space Walk," "Mosquito," "Desert at Dust," "Old Broadway," "Scene at Evening" and "Happy Faces." The Cheadles will also play Brahms-Haydn Variations for Two Pianos; Mozart, Variations in G - K501 for piano four hands; Manuel Infante, "Montagnarde" and "Farruca"; Debussy, "En Blanc et noir" and Charles Spinks, "Variations on a Greek Folksong, Op. 6."

POP-ROCK FRIDAY At Pink Elephant. Trans-Action, a seven-piece band, will perform this Friday night at the Pink Elephant, 252 Nassau Street. Offering a combination of brass, rhythm and vocals, it will play pop and disco hits of the day from 9:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m.

While the band may be new to many Princeton residents, its members are not. Lead saxophone and vocalist, Jon Negus, was one of the "Amazing Meltones" which played at the Intime Cabaret two summers ago. Last summer, Negus organized the PHS All-Star Band, putting together top jazz musicians from Princeton High School in the last ten years for one special concert.

Four other members of the PHS All-Star Band are now with TransAction. Chad Edwards, a Princeton student and member of the band "Spiral," will be on piano. On drums will be Eddie Eicher, formerly of "Quadrant."

Making up the horn section are Phil Labar and Eric Swartzentruber who have played with "J.B. and the Gold Coast Band." Completing the band are Dan Krimm on bass and acoustic guitar, another University student who played with the jazz band "Nexus," and Kristine Berggren on lead vocals and flute.

SENIOR ACTIVITY BRIEFS

Information Provided by Senior Resource Center, Spruce Circle, 924-7108

Thursday, July 27: 3-7 p.m.: Landau's 4th Annual Picnic at Prospect. Prizes, food and entertainment. Register in advance at 921-7676. Parking in lot 26, Ivy Lane. Friday, July 28: 1:30 p.m.: Senior Citizens Club Meeting at Harrison Street firehall.

10 a.m.-5 p.m.: Trip to Garden State Arts Center, "Country Western: The Smoky Warren Show." For information call the Recreation Department, 921-9480.

Monday, July 31: Movement Therapy at Senior Resource Center cancelled until September.

Thursday, August 3: 1:30 p.m.: Preview for seniors of comedy "Pajama Game" at Kelsey Theatre, Mercer County Community College, West Windsor campus. No tickets required, but call 586-4800 to tell them you are coming.

Monday-Friday: Noon: County Nutrition Program of hot lunches at Mt. Pisgah Church, Witherspoon and Maclean Streets. Call 921-1104 for free transportation.

August hours for the Senior Resource Center will be 9 to 1.

Hilda's Workshop at SRC cancelled until September.

BACK AGAIN "Mainstream" at Nassau Inn. The Nassau Inn, has booked the jazz-rock group "Mainstream" for a return engagement this Wednesday at 9. An instrumental group which plays both current jazz-rock and jazz dating back to the 1940's, the band is managed by Robert Davidson, Princeton High School '74. Mr. Davidson composes about half the material played by the band and plays the lead guitar. For two years he was the musical director and composer for the Summer Intime Cabaret. On graduation from high school, he also led the jazz-rock band, "Aqueous Foule."

Other musicians include Jimmy Allington, the drummer, who has recorded with pianist Larry Young; Angleo DiBraccio, who plays the saxophone and has recently recorded with the Brecker Brothers for Polydor Records; pianist Chad Edwards, a junior at Princeton; and David Ubanks, the bass player.

"Mainstream" drew 500 to Pardee Field for the first "Summer Sounds" concert.

CHOPIN RECITAL At Choir College. Following her attendance at a week-long Chopin Seminar at Southeastern Massachusetts University in Dartmouth, Mass., Phyllis Lehrer will give an all-Chopin recital on Wednesday, August 2, at 8 in the Chapel at Westminster Choir College. The public is invited at no charge.

"Chopin was perhaps the greatest composer for the piano," Ms. Lehrer feels. "Pianists love to play his music and audiences to hear it.

Among his many ballades, waltzes, mazurkas, preludes, the three sonatas, and impromptus - some of which are household favorites - a pianist has a great legacy from which to choose an "all-Chopin" program.

The selections which I will play on August 2 are among my favorites." Ms. Lehrer's recital will include the B flat minor Sonata; Fantasy in F minor; F sharp Impromptu; Six Preludes; and the A flat Major Ballade.

Ms. Lehrer is acting chairman of the Piano Department at Westminster Choir College. As part of the Arts for a Summer Evening series at Douglass College, she will play as a member of the Millstone Trio (with Jayn Rosenfeld, flute and Randolph Haviland, bassoon) in the evening from Thursday through Sunday. In the fall, she will give a solo recital in Huntington, N. Y. and will perform as piano soloist on programs with members of the Isadora Duncan Centenary Dance Company at MIT in Cambridge and The American Heritage Museum in Lexington, Mass.

The West Windsor Lions are searching for items, for their annual fall auction. Almost any item is acceptable, although the Lions are especially looking for furniture, glassware, tools, pictures, lamps and small appliances. All items are tax deductible and a receipt will be given with the fair market value of the item. Call Howard Eldridge at 452-9579 to arrange for convenient pickup of articles.

The Senior Citizen's Club will meet on Friday at 1:30 in the Harrison Street Firehouse. Phil Labasi from the Office of Social Security will speak on Medicare, Medicaid, Social Security and other sources of financial assistance. A question-and-answer session will follow.

All Princeton senior residents are welcome to join the club. Refreshments will be served.

Lawrence Township Senior Citizens Club I will meet Tuesday at noon in Legion Hall, Berwyn Place, Lawrenceville, for games. A business meeting will be held at 1 when a representative of the New Jersey Federation of Senior Citizens will speak on "What the Federation has done for us and what it plans to in the future."

Reservations will be taken for two shows at the Garden State Art Center, "Hawaiian Fantasy" on August 17 and "The Trenlers," a night show act from Las Vegas presently at Atlantic City, on August 24. A limited number of tickets at $4 each are available and will be given out on a first-come first-served basis.

The West Windsor Township Keenagers have again beautified the park in Dutch Neck Center by planting a variety of flowers. Senior citizens who worked to beautify this highly-traveled road were Mrs. Jesse Martz, Mrs. Betty Simon and Lester Applegate, the president of the club. This is the third year that the Keenagers have performed this service for the community.

ART

In Princeton

SHOW AT NASSAU INN
Friday Saturday. The Nassau Inn will continue its program of summer activities by bringing the seashore to Princeton through the art of Anne Packard. Packard's art, presented by Berus Gallery of New Hope, will be shown at the Inn from 11 to 4 Friday and Saturday.

Anne Packard specialized in brooding, misty seascapes, which are reminiscent of the Cape Cod and Provincetown coastlines. A granddaughter of the turn-of-the-century Romantic, Max Bohm, she was won numerous awards, including the Purchase Prize of the South Orange Art Show, and First Place in the Mendham juried Art Show. In addition, her works have been shown here at Gallery 100, and at several other art centers in the New Jersey-Pennsylvania area.

WATERCOLORS ON VIEW

At Medical Center. The Medical Center will feature the art of Thomas Malloy from Sunday through September 10.

A widely known artist whose medium is watercolor, Mr. Malloy works on capturing the mood and architecture of Trenton, the surrounding rural areas and scenes of the seashore. For the past ten years, he has been a full-time artist and teaches art at Mercer County Community College. He is a member of the Artists Equity National, the National League of Professional Artists, The Princeton Art Association, the Willingboro Watercolor Society, The Hunterdon County Art Center, The Trenton-Morrisville Art Group and The Ocean City Art Center.

In the past 13 years, he has won a first prize in a boardwalk show at Ocean City, another in Atlantic City, and some 40 other awards for his work. A reception will be held in the lobby of The Medical Center Sunday from 1 to 3. The public is invited.

EXHIBIT SCHEDULED
Of Senior Citizens' Work. More than 100 award-winning paintings by senior citizens from all areas of New Jersey will be exhibited in the Auditorium Galleries of the State Museum in Trenton from Saturday through August 13.

Representing work by both professional and non-professional artists, the award-winners were selected earlier this summer in county-level competitions sponsored throughout the State by the Division on Aging of the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs.

Additional jurying during the exhibition at the State Museum will select three state-wide prize winners and two runners-up in both the professional and non-professional categories for further exhibition—first in the State House rotunda and then at Morven. Awards will be presented at a public reception honoring all the artists in the Auditorium Galleries at 2:30 Friday, August 4.

The State Museum, a division of the New Jersey Department of Education, is open from 9 to 4:45 Monday through Friday and from 1 to 5 weekends and most holidays. Admission is free.

HOT AIR IN THE ATTIC WASTES AMERICA'S ENERGY AND COSTS YOU MONEY

During the summer months temperatures in the attic can reach as high as 150 degrees. This blanket of heat can penetrate through the best ceiling insulation into the living area below and burden the air conditioning or make a building that is not air conditioned hot and uncomfortable. Ceiling insulation at best is a deterrent to heat, not a barrier.

CELEBRITIES RAISE $75,000 FOR UNDERPRIVILEGED CHILDREN: Competing in a doubles exhibition match Thursday at Morven following the Second annual Governor's Cup Round Robin Tennis Tournament to support the Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Foundation are from left, singer Andy Williams, Governor Brendan Byrne, Ethel Kennedy and Gene Scott, a four-time over-35 national singles champion. A total of $75,000 was raised during the day-long event, player earlier at the Nessee and Racquet Club courts on Route 206. Corporations and other business firms paid entry fees of $1,250 with proceeds to be used by the foundation to care for underprivileged children. Mrs. Kennedy and Scott defeated Gov. Byrne and Williams, 6-2.

Here's an example of how times have changed ... We found a copy of a 1935 baseball guide and it says that big league club owners seriously discussed putting a salary limit on all major league players that year—paying NO player more than $4,000 for the whole season ... Today some players make 50 times—or more—than that.

An oddity of this baseball season is that Boston sent Cleveland to Texas and Texas sent Washington to Chicago! ... What happened was that Boston traded pitcher Reggie Cleveland to Texas this year, and Texas traded outfielder Claudell Washington to Chicago.

+++

Who's the only big league baseball player who always wore the name of his home-town on the back of his uniform throughout his major league career? ... He was pitcher Bill Voiselle ... Voiselle was from the town of Ninety-Six, South Carolina, and he always wore the number 96 on his uniform ... Voiselle played in the majors from 1942 to 1950.

STREAK AT 26

For Koffee Kup. Rain cancelled the big game last week between Koffee Kup and Sweet Jersey Corn but the former stayed in form with an easy 20-6 win over Zephyrs.

Good hitting by Denise Craig, Liz Randell and Lonna Boone and Zephyrs' errors gave the Kup an early 11-1 lead. The victors' unbeaten streak is now 26.

Cellar-dwelling Landau's played great defense against second-place Jersey Corn but lacked an offense, losing, 3-0. All of the scoring took place in the fourth, as Bonnie Gutman's double and Dee Pearce's solo homer accounted for all three runs. Mound rivals Pam Carone of Sweet Jersey and Sharon McHugh of Landau's were standouts.

Despite losing to Conte's Bar, 10-6, Kingston Wine managed to cling to fourth place. It led 6-4 after the fourth, but Conte's stormed back to tie it in the fifth and broke it open in the sixth, scoring four runs on hits by Eileen Robertiello, Carol Mazzella and Cathy Burroughs. Mazzella smashed a double and two triples.

Ivy Inn, dogging Kingston for the last play-off spot, pummeled Brener Brothers, 26-6, as every player hit safely. Extra base hits by Cathy Cifelli, Debbie Harris and Margaret and Cathy Arcaro led the assault.

Community Liquors outfit Triple-A Taxi, but good fielding and timely hitting by Sue Anderson brought Triple-A an 8-5 victory. Winning pitcher Betty James and Kathy Morao contributed key hits.

The standings:

player and golf team captain shot a two-over-par 73 in the morning round against Litvack. That was good enough to sent him out with a 10-hole lead after the lunch-break, and he brought the one-sided match to a close when he won the 26th hole, a 520-yard par 5.

The finals in other flights, played over 18 holes, were not productive of close matches either. In the first flight, Craig Davis defeated Ross Shrader, 5 and 3, while Dick Embley won the second flight from Dick Bradley, 4 and 3.

Dick Thompson was a 3-and-1 victor over Les Robbins to win the third flight, while Mel Greenfield won, 5 and 3, from George Brown in the fourth. The latter duel was unusual in that it was staged between two left-handers.

The next tournament on the Springdale schedule will be staged the weekend of August 12 and 13. The Harry Kinnell Tournament involves 36 holes of individual medal play with handicap.

Scott Quackenbush, defending champion at Springdale Golf Club, needed only 26 of the scheduled 36 holes Saturday to assure retention of his title. In winning the tournament for the third year in the last four, he defeated Jim Litvack, 12 and 10.

Roma Loss Means Playoff. Engine No. 3 and Roma Eterna both won two games last week and will meet again. If No. 3 defeats Roma in this last game of the season, a playoff will decide the title in the Princeton Youth Baseball Association league.

Roma Eterna defeated the Eagles, 18-13, for its first win. Roma's Michael Blaxill, Michael Feldstein and Jimmy Sharp hit two singles each and Ned Desmond tripled. Scott Herzog homered twice for the Eagles along with Jason Petrone, who also tripled and doubled.

Roma also crushed Engine Company No. 1, 18-0. Kyle Stephens homered and doubled, Desmond tripled, Andrew Bing doubled, and Blaxill and Marvin Trotman connected for a pair of singles each. Jon Soderburg doubled for No. 1.

No. 3's first victory was over Century 21, 9-5. Scott Roberts homered twice and tripled and Carter Sharaf slammed two triples. David Cassidy doubled for the losers.

No. 3 also stopped Post 76, 4-2. Roberts and Sharaf again powered the attack. Sharaf homered and Roberts tripled. Scott Fisher tripled twice for Post.

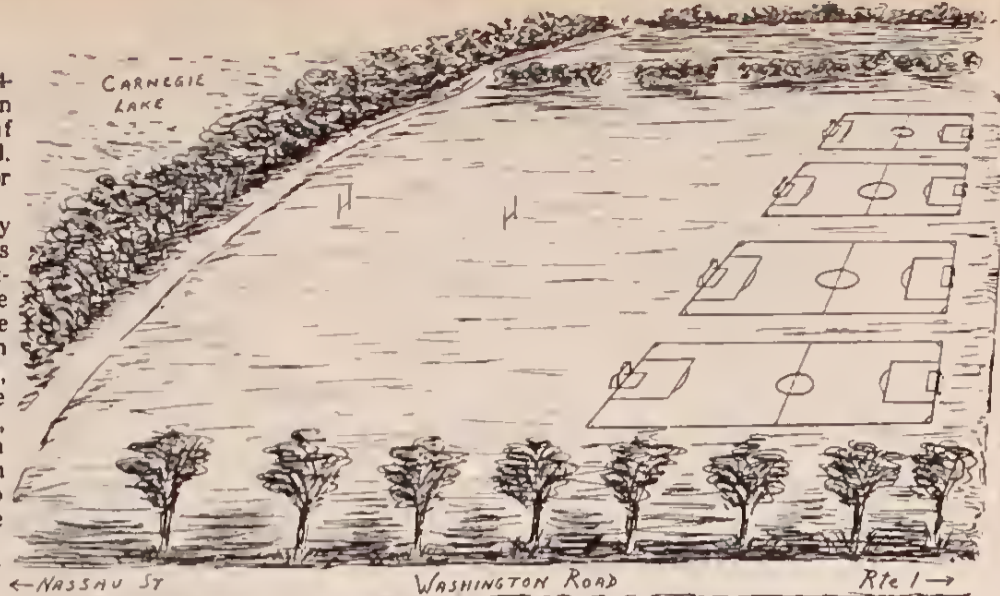

Post 76 gained a split by defeating the Elks, 11-6, as Fisher was the winning pitcher. Mickey Carnevale tripled for the victors. Engine Co. No. 1 outlasted Italian American in an extra inning, 12-11. Winning pitcher Joe O'Grady doubled and tripled, while Billy Scott doubled, Jim Opperman tripled and Ben White singled and drove in two runs. Troy Hill doubled for the losers.

The Eagles rebounded after losing to Roma, beating Century 21, 15-5. Mike Petrone and Rich Sferra, who homered, led the offense for the victors.

CLUB STILL UNBEATEN

Nassau Swimmers Now 4-0. Nassau Swimming Club used its depth in overcoming Bedens Brook (201-105) and then survived a comparatively close contest (172-136) with previously unbeaten Cranbury to raise its record to 4-0 on the season.

After losing the diving events to Bedens Brook, Nassau swimmers were beaten in only five swimming events and captured five of the eight relays. Victors were: Shelley Chu (girls 8-u back

Through a cooperative arrangement with Princeton University's department of athletics, the Nassau Soccer Association will have available for its fall program four new regulation-size soccer fields for its Saturday morning practices and intra-league games, as well as the Association's traveling team program. The fields, complete with goal posts, will be developed just south of Lake Carnegie, on the east side of Washington Road, in the area used for parking cars at the Hospital Fete.

These fields will allow all teams within a league to play each Saturday at the same location. They will be maintained by the Association.

The fall program will be held each

Saturday morning from September 16 through November 18. Participants may register at the Railroad Station, at the bottom of University Place on Wednesday, September 6, from 2 to 5 or on Saturday, September 9, from 9 to 1.

Those who were enrolled in the spring program will receive registration forms in the mail this week. Forms will also be available at several of the business firms who will sponsor teams: The English Shop, Obal's Garden Market, Lahiere's Restaurant, The Minute Press, Z & W Mazda, The Princeton University Store, The Pottery Barn and Princeton Caterers. Also at the following real estate offices: Stewardson-Dougherty, John T. Henderson, King's Grant and N. T. Callaway.

clinched the meet by winning the fifth relay event. The winning freestyle teams were: 8-u girls (Suzanne Maman, Sarah Deffeyes, Ann Berterton, Shelley Chu); girls 12-u (Ann Wawczak, Susan Harris, Sandy Danielson, Allison Fraker); girls 17-u (Abby Harris, Li Van Horn, Sandy Danielson, Val Van Horn); and boys 17-u (Pierre Maman, John Healy, Joel Harris, Robbie Hooke).

CAMP DATES LISTED

For Cross-Country at PDS. Princeton area cross country runners will have the opportunity to train for two weeks this August under the guidance of Princeton Day School coach Eamon Downey, one of the East's leading distance runners.

The Princeton Day School Camp will run from August 21 through September 1, and will meet Monday through Friday from 9-noon. Applicants will have the option of signing up for one week at $30 or for two weeks at $50.

The Day School features 150 acres of rolling, grassy and wooded terrain, and is surrounded by miles of country roads and trails. Facilities include a universal room for weight training. Downey will use training films and literature in addition to distance training, hill work, and fartlek (speed play).

Applications can be obtained by calling PDS at 924-6700 or Eamon Downey at 921-1189.

LEADERS NAMED

In West Windsor Tennis. Ray Giudice, John Perlitz and Rich Skalinski are leading the West Windsor Recreation Commission's men's doubles league after three weeks. They are undefeated.

In second place are Jerry Cohen, Gerry Wang and Harry Wyckoff, tied for third are Dan Allen, Carlos Barolt and Hank Jacobsohn and Tom O'Kane, Don Rizzo and Stan Tantum.

In the early evening doubles standings, two teams are tied for first place and two for third, one point away. In first place are Ralph Bloom, Bob Duncan and Larry Lathrop and Tom Boyer, John Herman

PHS Coaching Jobs Open

Princeton High School is still looking for three assistant football coaches, one assistant soccer coach and one assistant field hockey coach.

Interested applicants—who must be New Jersey certified teachers—should call athletic director Norman Van Arsdalen, 924-5600, ext. 302.

and Bernt Midland.

In third place are Dick Dahl, John DiPolvere, Tony Zuccarello and Ed Jordi and Pat Summers.

HOPE RUNS OUT

For Post 76 Legion Team. Too many early-season defeats caught up with the Princeton Post 76 baseball team this week in the Mercer Legion League.

Lawrence Post 414 clinched first place in the Northern Division Sunday with its second straight triumph over runner-up Hopewell Post 339, blanking last year's Northern champions, 8-0.

Princeton had kept its slender hope alive last week with a 2-1 victory over West Trenton behind the seven-hit pitching of Al Kandell, who fanned six and walked two. For Kandell, it was his third win in five decisions.

Princeton scored its runs—both unearned—in the third. Following two walks by hurler Todd Smith, Jamie Robertson scored when Trenton shortstop Mitch Friedman couldn't handle Jon Miller's grounder. Miller then scored the winning run when Friedman committed his second error of the inning.

Princeton was limited to four hits—one each by Kandell, Robertson, Keith Phox and Bob Easton.

Lawrence clinched its divisional title with a 13-10 record. Princeton is tied with slumping Hopewell for third place at 9-14, one-half game behind second place Ewing Post 314.

SHEEHAN SUES BOROUGH
And Design Interface.
Timothy J. Sheehan, in a pair of suits, has taken the Borough and a developer back into Superior Court again.

His Dundas Corporation names the Borough Zoning Board, the zoning officer (George Olexa) and J. Robert Hillier's Design Interface, Mr. Sheehan says the Zoning Board didn't have enough credible evidence to support its approval of the townhouse plan Mr. Hillier presented for the corner of Nassau and Markham, across from Dundas' own unfinished building at 363 Nassau. He also charges that Design Interface didn't prove its plans wouldn't be a detriment to the neighborhood or the Borough's zoning plan.

Two years ago, Dundas also took Design Interface to court over its now-completed townhouses on Moore Street. Mr. Hillier had been given a variance to build more houses than the zoning law provided for. In the end, he simply built the number he was allowed under the law.

The second of Mr. Sheehan's current suits is for damages against Borough Council, Mr. Olexa and Borough attorneys because they have not given him variances and building permits to complete the 363 Nassau Building.

In the current appearance before the Zoning Board of Nassau Savings and Loan, Mr. Sheehan has been an extensive questioner of the applicant. The organization will be before the board again this Thursday seeking an 11 parking-space waiver for its 186-192 Nassau expansion plans.
